Fair's Opening Day Has A Population Explosion

By JIM STEVENSON
Star Staff Writer

If the opening day of the 1968 Nebraska State Fair didn't go over with a bang, it was at least a population explosion.

Fair Manager Henry Brandt estimated late Friday that Kid's Day had drawn some 30,000 fairgoers, 10,000 more than opening day last year.

The increase, Brandt said, was largely due to more children on the grounds. Children were admitted to the grounds without charge Friday.

Balky Railroad

With the exception of a balky miniature railroad, opening day 1968 was "a beautiful day," Brandt reported.

Bands periodically marched through the grounds, 4-H youths matched each other in competition and an afternoon grandstand show featured pony harness and chariot races.

Judging Results, Other Fair News, Pages 9 and 10.

A "Battle of the Combos" concluded the day's activities.

Saturday — Vet's Day at the fair — will feature a country music concert with Marty Robbins and Hank Thompson in the grandstand at 7:45.

And the Disabled Veterans organization will hold a special, half-hour show in the Open Air Auditorium at 12:30.

Vets Need Identification

Veterans with identification as such will be admitted to the grounds without charge.

Also planned Saturday are a continuation of the 4-H competitions, more livestock judging and an FFA tractor operating contest at the University of Nebraska East Campus during the early morning.

Mud created some problems in a few parts of the fairgrounds Friday.

Brandt reported "no major problems" and predicted that minor troubles would be overcome.

Iron Horse Waits

One of those, the Iron Horse railway — intended to take loads of fairgoers on a huge circuit of the grounds — was still waiting for its official opening.

But workers continued to repair the asphalt track base Friday, and fair officials said they were still hopeful that the railway could get into operation.

The annual battles between the various political booths — this year there are three: Republican, Democratic, and American — failed to develop Friday.

Fever Climbing

But, as one fair official joked, the "fever's building."

Republican officials announced Friday that Sen. Roman Hruska would be on the fairgrounds at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Brandt predicted a crowd of about 50,000 to attend the fair Saturday. That would be about 25,000 down from Saturday attendance last year.

Ex-Governor Is Acquitted

Charleston, W.Va. (UPI) — Former Gov. W. W. Barron was acquitted by a U.S. District Court jury Friday on charges of conspiring to bribe applicants for state contracts. Four other defendants were found guilty.

The verdict came just a few hours after the jury of seven women and five men emerged to report they were "unable to reach a verdict" after deliberating for two days Presiding Judge J. Robert Martin Jr. refused to accept the deadlock and sent the jurors back to try again.

Aide Given Double Role

. . . IN DEMO PARTY

Chicago (AP) — Lawrence F. O'Brien, a top political strategist for the Kennedys, President Johnson, and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, was given Friday the dual role of chairman of the Democratic National Committee and manager of Humphrey's presidential campaign.

Humphrey appeared before the committee at its post-convention organization meeting to designate O'Brien as his choice to succeed John M. Bailey of Connecticut as committee chairman.

Humphrey told the committee that O'Brien, former postmaster general, would have carte blanche authority.

Committee Cheers

His designation of the 51-year-old Massachusetts native as both committee chairman and campaign manager was a departure from usual practice, and it brought a loud cheer from committee members.

Often in the past the National Committee has been bypassed in favor of the presidential campaign organization.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes of Missouri said in Jefferson City Friday afternoon that O'Brien will serve in the dual role only through the election and will be succeeded in the chairmanship on Nov. 15 by Delton L. Houtchens of Clinton, Mo.

No Comment

Neither Humphrey nor Houtchens, the Missouri Democratic national committeeman, could be reached immediately for comment on this report.

Humphrey opened the meeting with a long pep talk in which he attempted to heal some of the wounds opened during the often raucus four-day convention.

"Wherever we have difficulty you can trace it right to our lack of unity," the vice president said.

'Gesture Of Loyalty'

He called the appearance before the convention last night of Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota, one of his rivals for the presidential nomination, "one of the most magnanimous gestures of loyalty" he has ever seen.

Then in an obvious reference to another rival, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, he added "and I'm sure others will come too . . . it's not easy for someone who has fought his heart out to come quickly."

Humphrey took care also to emphasize that he is going to be his own man now that he is a candidate for president.

'First Requirement'

Referring to his four years as vice president in the Johnson administration, Humphrey said, "I have tried to do what I consider the first requirement and that was to be loyal to the President." On the Vietnam plank, which supported the administration position, Humphrey said he thinks "the most foolish thing a man can do is be wedded inflexibly to every word."

At the same time he said he feels that at this moment the platform "represents sound judgment."

Humphrey said he talked with Bailey last night and asked him to step aside as chairman and assume a newly created post as chairman emeritus.

Bailey first took over as national chairman in 1960, designated by the then nominee John F. Kennedy. He was retained in the position by President Johnson.

O'Brien has been active in Democratic party politics since his youth in Springfield, Mass.

He became nationally known as an astute organizer and as a top political adviser to John F. Kennedy both in Kennedy's senate campaigns and after he became president when he became part of what was called the White House "Irish Mafia."

Police Pamphlet Offers Advice For Single Girls

By JIM STEVENSON
Star Staff Writer

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, so they say.

Although the Lincoln Police Department's latest crime fighter may not even weigh an ounce, officers hope its payoff will be quite a bit more weighty.

A foldout pamphlet recently printed by the department offers tips both for avoiding trouble and for handling it when it occurs.

'Ounce Worth Life'

Entitled "An Ounce of Prevention Could Be Worth a Life," the pamphlet was put together by police-community relations officer Ben Goble.

Goble said that the pamphlet is aimed primarily at protecting women from possible attacks.

"It's not that Lincoln is undergoing a huge increase in sex crimes," he said. "But the problem's here and will be getting bigger."

'Just Don't Realize'

The city also draws a number of girls from small towns "who just don't realize how things are different here," he said.

Stressed in the pamphlet are the dangers of after-dark walks and safety in numbers.

Prominently featured is the police department's telephone number and the warning "Don't Take Chances — report ANY crime of suspicious act."

Four "danger areas" are covered Rules of caution are included for persons at home, in automobiles, talking on telephones and walking.

Examples:

—On the telephone "do not let it be known that you are alone. Always give the caller the impression that someone is with you."

—"When you say 'hello' and no one answers, you should hang up immediately. Don't encourage the 'breather.' "

Or:

—"If you feel you are being followed, drive to police station, fire station, service station or any other well-lighted area where there are people."

Noise Is A Weapon

—"NOISE!!! is an effective 'weapon.' SCREAM!!! loud and clear and often if you are being attacked or become frightened."

—"Do not hang intimate laundry outside on the clothesline. And do not gather clothes in from outside after dark unless someone is with you or you have plenty of light."

Copies of the pamphlet will be available on request at the police station, Goble said.

CALIFORNIA . . .

Boy OK; Kidnaper Caught

Beverley Hills, Calif. (AP) — A little boy in a blue bathing suit, two-day hostage of a kidnaper who made him a shield during a wild, shooting auto chase, was reunited Friday with his wealthy parents.

FBI agents pulled Stanley Stalford Jr., 4, out of the wreckage of his abductor's car after it was deliberately rammed by an FBI auto, causing a pileup at an intersection.

The tyke, son of the chairman of the board of the $100-million Fidelity Bank of Beverly Hills, was bruised and suffered a cut on his left knee.

Broken Leg

His abductor, identified by the FBI as Robert L. Dacy, 39, an ex-convict of nearby Lakewood, suffered a broken right leg and his right forehead was creased by a bullet during the 10-minute pursuit.

Dacy pleaded innocent at his hospital room arraignment on two state counts of kidnaping for ransom.

Since Mrs. Stalford, mother of the kidnapped boy, was forced to move from one point to another against her will, authorities said, the second kidnap count is permitted under California law.

No Bond

A deputy public defender, Stuart Rosen, entered the pleas while Dacy sat up in bed. Municipal Judge Leonard Wolf ordered Dacy held without bond for preliminary hearing Sept. 20.

In addition, a federal complaint charged Dacy with assault with a dangerous weapon upon an FBI agent.

In predawn darkness earlier, an intermediary for the family tried unsuccessfully to swap $250,000 in $20 bills for the boy.

Kidnaper Met

The intermediary, family friend and restauranteur Red Tracton, said he met the kidnaper and his small captive on a lonely road near a dump south of downtown Los Angeles.

Tracton said he placed the money in a bag beside the kidnaper's car, but before the man got out to pick it up he apparently became alarmed at the approach of another car and sped off with the boy. Tracton said he thought it was an FBI car.

Tracton recovered the money.

The chase started in the same general area after, agents said, they spotted the car and identified the driver and boy from photographs. Agents said they knew Dacy's identity beforehand, but declined to say how.

The kidnaper led six FBI cars with 12 agents on a wild ride at 80 to 90 miles per hour at times, over highways and residential streets, through alleys and parking lots.

Johnson Says Red Invasions Are Rumored

San Antonio, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson said Friday night there are rumors the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia might be repeated elsewhere in Eastern Europe and asserted, "Let no one unleash the dogs of war."

Johnson warned any would-be aggressor not to misjudge America and said that there will be no appeasement of those who prowl across national boundaries "in this or any other administration."

Johnson inserted word of the rumors that Russia might march on other neighbors into an address to a convention of milk producers from Texas and six neighboring states.

Marble-Size Hail, Rain Fall In South Lincoln

Marble-sized hail and intense rain reducing visibility to near zero was reported in south Lincoln Friday evening by Lincoln police.

Officials at Wymore reported hail falling for two or three minutes and covering the ground. Hail also fell near Ashland.

The Lincoln Weather Bureau reported .12 of an inch of precipitation. Omaha reported .25.

The police department in Wilber early Friday evening sighted a funnel cloud five miles north of the town, moving eastward.

According to a report from the Saline County sheriff's office, the tornado did not touch down and shortly after the sighting, the cloud dissipated. The funnel cloud was also observed in Milford.

New York Times News Summary

Czech Meet With Occupation Powers Planned

(C) New York Times News Service

Prague — The leaders of Czechoslovakia and the five Warsaw Pact nations whose armies are occupying her soil are to convene in Dresden, East Germany, around Sept. 10 to start talks on the withdrawal of troops, according to informed sources. The Warsaw Pact meeting is scheduled to begin one day after the close of a session of the extraordinary congress of the Czechoslovak Communist Party designed to return the country to the Soviet concept of "normalization." Meanwhile, Austrian authorities have registered 20,000 Czechs in Vienna alone as potential refugees. The influx is gathering momentum by the hour. (More on Page 2.)

Sadness Descends On Prague

Prague — A heavy sadness and a sense of fear have descended on the beautiful city of Prague. For many citizens the talk is about how to get away. Czechoslovak writers are finding it difficult to coexist with the occupation forces.

Dissident Demos Make Plans

Chicago — Dissident Democrats, seriously divided in issues among themselves, met in Chicago to lay plans for political activity this fall and beyond. They could agree on one point, however — that they would not support the Democratic ticket in November.

Soviets Rounding Up Authors

New York — Soviet intelligence agents, disguised as ambulance attendants, are secretly rounding up authors and journalists in Czechoslovakia for possible deportation to the Soviet Union. The American chapter of PEN, the world association of writers, has received information from "a reliable source" — a writer who arrived in London from Prague — that at least 11 writers had been beaten unconscious by Soviet secret agents "disguised as ambulance attendants" before they were driven to an unknown destination.

So. Viet Outpost Captured

Saigon — A South Vietnamese outpost near an American special forces camp 14 miles from the city of Quang Ngai was captured by enemy troops. One attempt to retake the position was beaten off. (More on Page 2.)

Humphrey: 'I'm The Captain'

Chicago — Hubert H. Humphrey placed his personal stamp on the Democratic Party as he named Lawrence F. O'Brien as both chairman of the Democratic National Committee and campaign manager. "I'm the captain of the team," he told members of the newly elected committee. "I'm supposed to call the signals." Candidate Humphrey also made it clear he did not feel himself bound to the exact language of the platform, including the Vietnam plank. (More on Page 1.)

Chicago Returning To Normal

Chicago — Chicago appeared to be returning to normal after four nights of violence that hurt the city's image, and its citizens appeared to be both relieved and perplexed in the wake of the Democratic National Convention. Reactions to Mayor Daley and the strong tactics of the Chicago police in clearing demonstrators ranged from condemnation to support.

Police Eject McCarthyites

Chicago — Responding to a request from the Hilton Hotel, which said objects were being thrown from windows, Chicago police entered McCarthy headquarters on the 15th floor before dawn Friday and ejected about 30 of the senator's aides. The police, using clubs, wounded three workers seriously enough to require hospitalization. The senator angrily protested the action and ordered an investigation. (More on Page 2.)

Political Scholars Seek Change

New York — A rebellious group of political scientists have asked that the American Political Science Association, which has traditionally taken the posture of neutrality, become more politically involved and change its charter during its national convention next week. Like the students' complaint, the scholars feel that American universities should not avoid major controversies of the day.

Enemy Shells 3 Major Cities

Saigon (AP) — The Communist command, its troop bloodied in a week of unsuccessful grounds attacks, reverted late Friday and early Saturday to the less costly tactics of shelling — with Pleiku, Da Nang and Bien Hoa the main targets.

Two civilians and two soldiers died when enemy gunners sent 17 rounds of big 122 mm rockets whistling into the highlands city of Pleiku, 235 miles northeast of Saigon. A U.S.-operated rock quarry three miles east of Pleiku was hit with 10 mortar rounds, a government spokesman said.

Rockets and mortars slammed into three allied air strips at Bien Hoa and Da Nang.

Light Casualties

A U.S. spokesman said Da Nang airbase received 10 rounds of 122mm rockets that caused very light casualties and damage. He said 35 mortar shells hit the Marble Mountain airstrip — the U.S. Marines' huge helicopter base just south of Da Nang. No casualties and light damage were reported.

The Da Nang area was the scene of hot fighting Thursday, when allied troops reported repulsing an enemy drive in three battles.

Bien Hoa airfield, 15 miles north of Saigon, took 20 rounds of 122mm rockets in a five-minute barrage. Casualties and damage were termed very light.

70 VC Killed

The Mekong Delta was the scene of the only new ground action reported by the allied commands. Government infantrymen fought the biggest engagement, near Long My, 105 miles southwest of Saigon. They reported killing 70 Viet Cong. Supported by helicopter gunships and dive bombers, they put their own losses at only five killed, 23 wounded.

Soldiers of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division Mobile Riverine Force said they killed 13 enemy in canals around Cai Be, 60 miles southwest of Saigon. U.S. losses were put at three killed, eight wounded.

Other 9th Division infantrymen reported killing 10 guerrillas 16 miles south of Saigon at a loss of only one American wounded

Far to the north, a Navy A6 Intruder and its two-man crew were downed by ground fire during a mission over North Vietnam Thursday, the U.S. command said.

Protesters Begin To Leave

Chicago (AP) — Antiwar demonstrators whose confrontation with police and National Guardsmen shared the stage with the Democratic Party's nomination of a presidential candidate began drifting out of Chicago Friday.

But an early morning police raid in the Conrad Hilton hotel continued the smoldering dissent between lawmen and peace advocates. A leader of the demonstrators added more charges of excessive police action Friday and also announced the demonstrations have ended.

A meeting Friday afternoon in Grant Park, scheduled to discuss the police actions of the week, drew only 100 persons, most of whom were conventionally dressed. The bandshell area where thousands rallied Wednesday virtually was deserted. Guardsmen withdrew from the entire downtown area and the occasional policeman wore a soft hat rather than the hard blue helmet.

Debris Cleared

Street sweepers clearing the remaining debris from Michigan Avenue, Chicago's showplace boulevard which became a front line of battle Wednesday and Thursday, brushed up lingering clouds of tear gas which quickly dissipated.

Police said Friday that 583 persons were arrested during the disturbances this week and most of them were free on bond.

Jerry Rubin, 25, of New York City, a spokesman for the Yippies (Youth International Party) was released Friday on $25,000 bond. He was arrested Wednesday and charged with disorderly conduct, solicitation of mob action and resisting arrest.

Rubin said Friday he was held in the Cook County Jail for 36 hours and was held incommunicado for three hours. He also said that there are no further demonstrations planned in Chicago.

Friday morning's confrontation between police and supporters of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy occurred after empty beer cans, glasses and smoked fish were dropped from the Hilton onto guardsmen patrolling Michigan Avenue.

Police swarmed over the 15th floor, clubbed three persons and chased about 50 of "McCarthy's kids" down to the lobby, charging that the youths were not registered in the hotel.

Four policemen were injured in the fracas, two of them allegedly struck in the eyes by thrown lye. All four were treated and released from a hospital.

The ousted youths sat in the lobby singing "We Shall Overcome" until McCarthy and his top aides vouched for them. There were no arrests made.

McCarthy said the police action was "completely out of proportion to anything that has been reported to have occurred."

"Most of these young people were the same ones who campaigned with me in nearly every state of the union for nearly nine months. We've been in hotels in those states and never had an incident like this."

A McCarthy aide, Richard N. Goodwin, said the raid "was in retaliation for the role we played in the defamation of Mayor Richard J. Daley this week."

A police lieutenant said one of his men was on the 15th floor when the trash barrage began. The policeman said that a youth in room 1548 admitted tossing debris from his window.

The lieutenant added: "McCarthy people are liars from the word go."

Doctors Let Ike Sit Up In Bed Friday To Read

Washington (UPI) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was permitted to sit up and read in bed Friday for the first time since he suffered his seventh heart attack two weeks ago.

Doctors at Walter Reed Army Medical Center reported that the 77-year-old general's recovery was continuing at a remarkable pace.

"The general is in excellent spirits and spent another comfortable night," a mid-morning medical bulletin reported.

"Light reading and music, in addition to visits with Mrs. Eisenhower, have helped to occupy the general during his confinement," the report continued. Previously, Eisenhower was limited to short visits and light background music.

"The favorable trend, previously noted, has continued," the Friday morning bulletin said, referring to the marked decrease in cardiac irritability since earlier in the week.

The morning bulletin concluded that there had been "no essential change" in Eisenhower's condition, which was still listed as serious.

The former chief executive was taken off the certical list Wednesday, but doctors cautioned that the outlook remained guarded, or unpredictable.

Mother, 35, Kills Her 5 Children

Duesseldorf, Germany (AP) — A 35-year-old mother choked and killed her five children with nylon stockings Friday, Duesseldorf police reported.

Elizabeth Breuer killed the children, aged 2 to 8, while her husband was at work.

Soviet Troops Leave Prague As Security Agents Move In

Prague (AP) — Soviet tanks and occupation troops moved out of Prague Friday but Russian security agents moved behind the scenes to tighten the Kremlin's grip on the country. The government announced renewed press censorship, thus bowing to a key Moscow demand.

The government of Premier Oldrich Cernik was reported virtually powerless against Soviet moves to place experts in key centers and organizations throughout the country.

This was despite a Soviet promise at the meeting with Czechoslovak leaders in Moscow that the occupation authorities would not interfere in the internal affairs of Czechoslovakia. This was part of an accord that left the liberalized Czechoslovak leaders in power but provided for continued occupation by Soviet block troops until Czechoslovakia's situation "normalizes."

Censor Law

The censors will start work immediately while the culture and justice ministries prepare a draft law to be passed by the National Assembly, the government said in an announcement following a Cabinet meeting. The Censorship applies to domestic news.

A handful of liberal-minded ministers were reported ready to resign. They included Interior Minister Josef Pavel, Culture and Information Minister Miroslav Galuska and Education Minister Vladimir Kadlec. One report said Pavel had quit but there was no official confirmation.

Soviet security agents made detailed searches of desks and papers at radio and television stations and the CTK news agency, all still occupied by Soviet troops.

Booby Trap

Informed sources said the Russians booby-trapped radio and television equipment so that it could be put out of action if Czechoslovak editors fail to toe the line when they take over broadcasting again.

Under the Soviet pressure, Czechoslovak journalists have spread the word that they will support "the efforts of our legal organs to find a way out of the situation." That is they will do nothing to upset officials' efforts to get the 350,000 Soviet, Polish, East German, Hungarian and Bulgarian troops out of the country.

Officials Resign

The Russians were reported moving experts into all ministries and into the Communist Party's Central Committee building.

Soviets Said Gathering Along Romania Border

Bucharest, Romania (AP) — Romanian travelers arriving in Bucharest said Friday Soviet and Bulgarian forces are concentrating along Romania's borders. Government officials declined to comment on the reports.

Western diplomats received similar reports of a Soviet buildup. One diplomat said: "We don't know what to make of it. It might be the real thing or it might be just another move in a war of nerves."

The Soviet bloc has berated Romania's leaders for siding with Czechoslovakia. But the Moscow press denied as provocation Western accounts that Romania might share the fate of Czechoslovakia.

Romanian military and internal security precautions, taken after Soviet, Polish, East German, Hungarian and Bulgarian troops invaded Czechoslovakia the night of Aug. 20-21, remain in effect.

Travelers returning from the Soviet Ukraine reported long columns of Russian armor and artillery near the Prut River, which forms the Romanian-Soviet border in the east.

Bulgarian troops were said to be moving into the area of Ruse, opposite the Romanian Danube River port of Giurgiu on the southern border. A huge bridge there connects the two countries.

Pravda Calls For 'Liquidation' Of 40,000 Czechs

Moscow (AP) — In a dispatch from Prague, Pravda called Saturday for "liquidation" of 40,000 counter-revolutionaries in Czechoslovakia.

The article as distributed by the official news agency Tass gave no details or explanation.

Another Pravda dispatch from the Czechoslovak capital complained that airport workers there refused to service or even go near planes of the Soviet airline Aeroflot. It said this job had to be done by Soviet troops and that the Soviet military command had to bus passengers arriving from Moscow to downtown Prague since the Czechoslovaks would not do it.

The article said 6,000 airport workers were idle and receiving no pay.

The reference to "liquidation" came in a dispatch by Prague correspondent S. Borzenko, who said the struggle in Czechoslovakia is far from over.

Nebraska Power Pact Is Sent To Washington

. . . Designed To Meet Electrical Load Growth

Columbus (AP) — A power exchange agreement which will supply outstate Nebraska with electrical power needed to meet its load growth until its next generating plant is built has been forwarded to the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation.

The agreement, signed by the Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District and the Loup River Public Power District, co-owners of the Nebraska Public Power System, is expected to be approved by the Bureau of Reclamation so it can become effective Sept. 1.

Nebraska News

Howard N. Erickson, executive manager of NPPS, said the agreements which become a part of the interconnection contract between NPPS and the bureau, should mean a firming up of service and a continuation of Nebraska's use of low-cost Missouri River hydro power.

Seasonal Exchange

The agreements provide for a seasonal exchange of about 3,000 kilowatts of power equivalent of the normal seasonal peak demands.

Nebraska now needs about 250,000 kilowatts more power in the summer than in the winter. The upper part of the Missouri Basin needs about the same amount of additional power during the winter. Utility systems in both portions of the region can save money if they don't have to build plants to supply loads active only a part of the year.

Erickson said the bureau system would handle the exchange and with completion of the 345-KV transmission line from Fort Thompson, S.D., to Grand Island, Neb., facilities will be adequate to meet the demands within the forseeable future.

The agreement also calls for earmarking 50,000 kilowatts of bureau power for summer pump irrigation in Nebraska.

Colorado Soldier Fatally Hurt As Auto, Patrol Car Collide

By the Associated Press

A soldier from Littleton, Colo., Dennis Keith Taylor, 23, was killed early Friday when his small sports car was in a near head-on collision with a State Patrol car on U.S. 30 about five miles east of Roscoe.

The driver of the Patrol car, Trooper Eldon Webb, 27, of Ogallala, suffered minor injuries and was treated at a hospital.

Authorities said Taylor died instantly in the crash which demolished his car and heavily damaged the patrol car.

Investigators said Taylor was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Taylor of Willshire Mound, Minn.

No Known Address

Elsewhere in Nebraska traffic, Dakota County officials Friday were attempting to learn more about the background of a man, about 50, who was killed in a car-pedestrian accident on the main street of South Sioux City.

The victim was identified as Everett F. Grant who had no known address.

County Attorney Cecil Orton said the man stepped in front of a car driven by Robert L. Tallman of Sioux City, Iowa. He termed the accident unavoidable and said no charges would be filed.

The accident occurred on Dakota Avenue which carries traffic of U.S. 20 through the city.

The deaths bring the 1968 traffic toll for Nebraska to 283, compared with 282 on Aug. 30, 1967.

HHH Invited To Address Indian Meet

Omaha (AP) — Sponsors of the National Congress of American Indians report Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has been invited to speak at the convention in Omaha Sept. 24-27.

Humphrey, the Democratic Presidential nominee, has not answered the invitation, which was made Thursday.

The event is expected to draw from 500 to 1,400 Indians from up to 200 tribes. It is being sponsored by the Omaha, Winnebago and Santee Sioux Tribes.

A spokesman said Gov. Norbert Tiemann and Sens. Carl Curtis and Roman Hruska have declined invitations to speak.

McEvoy Retiring From Land Bank

Omaha (AP) — Hugh E. McEvoy, senior vice president of the Federal Land Bank of Omaha since 1955, will retire Saturday.

McEvoy, a native of Mondamin, Iowa, has been with the Farm Credit Banks of Omaha for 35 years. Prior to joining the Land Bank, he was senior credit examiner for the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Omaha

More Subpoenas Issued In Probe Of Beef Feeders

Scottsbluff (AP)— Three more subpoenas have been issued in the investigation of the feeding operations of the Kern County Land Company.

Scotts Bluff County Attorney Jim Ponder said the bank records of former company manager Leland Charlton and Larry Hogan have been subpoenaed as well as bank records of Eastern Enterprises, believed by investigators to be an account arrangement between Charlton and Hogan.

The investigation began earlier this year when Tenneco purchased the company and found irregularities in records that are said to run into the millions of dollars.

An investigation into the Minatare feeding operation and another holding in Bakersfield, Calif., resulted in all records being subpoenaed and Charlton being found guilty of embezzlement.

Charlton has not been sentenced and he is being asked to provide evidence in the grand jury investigation in Bakersfield.

Scottsbluff attorney Don Raymond, who is heading the investigation for Tenneco, said Tenneco officials will come to Scottsbluff Wednesday.

Ponder said that Hogan is being sought.

Summary of Conditions

A large broad trough of low pressure extends east to west across the northern plans from the Rockies east to eastern Minnesota and western Wisconsin. It also extends from the Canadian border south into northern Kansas and northern Missouri. A cool front moving slowly east lies in this trough from a small low center over northeastern South Dakota to central Iowa and into a small low center in northeastern Missouri then south into north central Arkansas then southwest across the northwestern corner of Arkansas and southeastern Oklahoma. Cooler air is centered over southwestern Montana with a weak ridge into southeastern Colorado.

Skies will be variably cloudy Saturday over most of the Nebraska-Iowa area. It will be partly cloudy Saturday night and Sunday. Temperatures will become warmer Saturday and Sunday. Scattered showers or thunderstorms are likely in eastern Nebraska and western Iowa late Saturday afternoon and evening.

Federal Grant To Continue Lincoln Manpower Training

Continuation of Lincoln's manpower training programs in agribusiness and culinary arts has been approved by the federal government, it was announced by First District Congressman Robert Denney Friday.

Lincoln was granted $417,000 to provide training for a total of 180 persons during the next year.

The clerical section of the manpower training had previously been approved, according to Jack Steven, manpower training director in the State Department of Education.

Under the program, unemployed persons, usually heads of households, are selected by the State Employment Service for training or retraining.

The Lincoln public schools adult division administers the classes and provides the instruction.

Omaha's request for $622,000 for a similar program has reportedly been approved but has not yet been confirmed, according to Steven.

Fourth Member Human Relations Board Quits Post

Omaha (UPI) — Human relations board member Joseph I. Ramirez has quit his post, the fourth member to do so in the past week.

Ramirez, who is associate director of the Omaha Urban League, was critical of the administration of Mayor A. V. Sorensen and of the City Council. He said neither has been responsive to suggestions by the board.

As was the case in the other resignations, Sorensen refused comment.

Resigning earlier were Norman L. Hahn, chairman; Mrs. Charline Gibson, wife of St. Louis Cardinal star Bob Gibson; and Arnett J. Bonner.

Battle Of the Combos Loud, Exciting Contest

By RANDY EICKHOFF
Star Staff Writer

Shades of the Beatles! Long hair, loud music, and screaming teenagers and singers with a moving beat dominated the State Fair Friday night with one of the most exciting musical battles to hit the state of Nebraska in years — the Battle of the Combos.

Some of the combos sang faintly recognizable old songs that appealed to the senior members of the audience, but the "new sound" completely changed the adult minds about the popularity of past recording stars.

Six combos competed in the statewide contest after winning regional contests in their home towns.

Each combo was required to play a selection from the Nebraska Broadcaster's Association top-ten list, one original composition or arrangement, and one selection that reflected what the combo members considered a "religious message."

Some Doubt

Some of the so-called religious songs that were played, however, left doubt in some spectators' minds about what religion the combo members thought of when they selected their numbers.

The combos were judged by Patrick Egan, Charles Fox, and Mrs. Jane Bowers on originality, musicianship and showmanship.

Three songs that were played repeatedly by different combos throughout the affair — "You Keep Me Hanging On," "Jumpin' Jack Flash," and "Amen, Amen" — made a hit with the crowd every time they were played.

Highlighting the evening were performances by the Prior Associates of Lincoln, who, with their outstanding vocalist Fred Orduna, earned a standing ovation from the members of the audience, and The Sunny Funny Company of Kearney who gained the crowd's approval with vocalist Mike Lovelace's vibrato that sent chills running up and down one's spine.

Loud Music

Some of the combos used loud music to cover up mistakes in the voice of their singers, but in some instances, unfortunately, the singer could still be heard.

Others, realizing the quality of their singer's voice, expedited the vocalist by giving him the well-earned limelight.

Mike Loveless's rendition of "A Place in the Sun" was a classic example of this, and the crowd showed its approval by remaining absolutely still during the song and breaking into wild applause at the end.

One of the senior members of the audience turned to his wife and said, "Well Mother, that's what I call a song!" A suggestion of tears hung in his eyes.

Prior Associates First

The Prior Associates walked off with first-place laurels, consisting of a trophy and $175 in cash, and the Sunny Funny Company earned second-place awards which consisted of a trophy and $125 in cash.

Third place was shared by the remainder of the combos each receiving $50 in cash and third-place trophies.

These combos were: The Chain Reaction, winner of the Scottsbluff Regional Contest; the Notorious Bandits, winners of the Norfolk Regional Contest; the Commodores, of Omaha, and the Third Dimention of North Platte.

Every member of the six combos received a trophy from the United Methodist Church for participating in the contest.

Members of the combos were:

The Prior Associates: Mike Eley, Pat Murphy, Dave Wampler, Doug Biggerstaff, Dennis Biggerstaff, Warren Cline, Steve McBride, and Fred Orduna, all of Lincoln.

The Sunny Funny Company: Wally Helton, Mike Loveless, Al Paez, Rick Houchin, and Dick Albrecht, all of Kearney.

The Chain Reaction: Dennis Burkhart and Jim Lamberson of Mitchell and Keith Harimon and Randy Markeim of Lyman.

The Notorious Bandits: Milburn Johnson, Perry Hansen, Sam Newton, Arlyn Johnson, all of Bloomfield, and Dennis Lewchuk of Norfolk.

The Third Dimention: Silvester Lopez, Carl Schmidt, Dennis Maynard, John Krick, all of Kearney; Allen, Larry and Edward Sizer of Gibbon, and Robert Morosic of Wood River.

The Commodores: Michael Cain, Steve Bagdanovich, Dale Downs, John Gaeta, Vance Senter, Frank Siedlik, all of Omaha.

Religious Experiences Told To Youth At Combos' Battle

Six Nebraskans appeared at the State Fair Friday night at the Battle of the Combos where they spoke on the benefits of Christianity.

Making the biggest hit with the young crowd was Joe Orduna, who doffed football togs to give the teenagers his thought of what God is really like.

The master of ceremonies, Bill Post of Geuda Springs, Kan., told the crowd that he found the answer to indebtedness in church, and thrilled the crowd with one of his own songs about St. Luke.

Also on the program were State Sen. Calista Cooper Hughes of Humboldt, Kenneth R. White of Lincoln, G. Alan Dunlap of Milford, Tom Osborne of Lincoln and Kerry Leggett of Ord.

Each speaker had a tragic event in his or her life and shared it with the audience, then told how they found help through the church.

Burglar Burly

A burglar allegedly removed a whiskey bottle filled with approximately $450 in cash from the home of Hugh H. Sieck, 230 Witherby, early Friday morning.

Police said the weight of the bottle bank was approximately 70 pounds.

Attack Is Fatal For 13-Year-Old

Newman Grove — Diane Matson, 13, collapsed and died Thursday afternoon as she was preparing to enter a classroom at Newman Grove High School.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elton Matson who farm near here, Diane fell as she was about to attend a pep club session.

According to a Newman Grove physician, the girl, a freshman, apparently died instantly of a heart attack. He said the girl had a history of heart trouble.

The Newman Grove school remained closed Friday.

Thunderstorm Has Energy Of Several A-Bombs—Meyers

Omaha (AP) — "An ordinary Nebraska thunderstorm possesses the energy of several Hiroshima-type atomic bombs," a Weather Bureau spokesman said Friday.

The Weather Bureau expert, R. A. Meyers, a climatologist, said it's a mistake for the public to presume that a tornado is necessarily more severe than a thunderstorm.

Each has special characteristics, such as complete circular travel of particles caught up in a tornado, he said, but when it comes to raw power, the thunderstorm packs just as much punch.

Often the energy of the thunderstorm is spread over a wide area, he said, but when it is concentrated its damage can be greater than that of a tornado, he said.

CHICAGO—Whom the Democrats have nominated here in Chicago has, at the moment at least, become almost a moot question. Far more in the forefront of conversation and news is the violence that erupted along Michigan Avenue while delegates were picking a nominee at the International Amphitheatre.

The atmosphere here is edgy and angry. There are those who defend the police and Mayor Richard Daley but there are more who denounce the mayor and his police. You didn't have to be in the middle of the Wednesday night violence to get a taste of it.

The next morning, the lobby of the swank Conrad Hilton Hotel still told the story. The blood-spattered carpeting will probably have to be replaced and the stench in the corridors must be revolting to the guests who have found themselves in the middle of something which most of them had probably thought up until now was not real.

The story is told, too, by newspaper accounts, TV tapes and eye-witness accounts. We talked to some of those who had been clubbed by the police, one of them an onlooker who now bears physical evidence of his presence on Michigan Avenue at the wrong time Wednesday night.

The essence of the whole thing, it seems, is the lack of restraint on the part of Chicago police. Even earlier in the week, the Chicago visitor had the feeling that the only unsafe part about being on the streets was the possibility of running into a cop under the wrong conditions.

In their whole attitude, the Chicago police are tough. There is no room for a casual expression that might be taken the wrong way by them, for an accidental step in the wrong direction or for even a smile that might be interpreted as patronizing or disdainful.

Part of the reason for this is that the Chicago police, not untypical of police in many places, we fear, have their own idea of what people ought to be. The kid in sandals or even barefooted, with long hair or a beard and wearing maybe a Civil War jacket, doesn't fit the cop's stereotype.

The cop wants to lay on that kid and when he gets the slightest provocation to do so, it is an all-out attack. The police have pursued their youthful antagonists into buildings, clubbing them on the head along the way.

When the clubbing starts, the police seem to lose all control of themselves. Their vocabulary often turns to profanity and anyone within their reach is fair game.

They have beaten more than two dozen newsmen trying to cover the demonstrations. They have clubbed campaign workers of major candidates, businessmen, hotel guests and just about anyone unfortunate enough to be in the wrong place at the right time.

And again, when the clubbing starts, it doesn't stop. People are clubbed, not until they move on, but until they fall to the paving or sidewalk. Then, some have been kicked.

★

It is said the kids taunt the police. It's true. They do. And they jeer at them and holler anti-war sentiments. But the police can taunt, too, and they do. In their use of physical force and the verbal exercise of their authority, they challenge the rights and dignities of people, encouraging a provocative act that can then justify an all-out attack with the famous club.

Some people have said in defense of Mayor Daley that he has kept Chicago "safe" for the vast majority of people and has maintained conditions so the national convention was not disrupted. But such reliance upon peace and safety can be deceiving.

It is probably safe on the streets of Prague and it was safe in Germany under Hitler, if you managed to avoid his wrath. Even guests in the plush Hilton, watching from windows of rooms to which they were confined, turned against police at the sight of the unmerciful beatings in the street below.

The American people had better be very skeptical of the George Wallaces and the unthinking "law and order" advocates. In the process of order maintained, they could lose their freedom.

DREW PEARSON
Century-Old Errors Not Cured Overnight

WASHINGTON — Basically what the Democratic Party—and the nation—have been suffering from is the fact that you cannot undo in four years the mistakes of 100 years. Whoever is elected president must change those mistakes and it will take him and the nation perhaps 50 years to do so. Those mistakes are:

1. The suppresion of the Negro race for 100 years, then the expectation that he learn to play a peaceful role in the community in ten years.

2. The favoritism shown to rural areas for 100 years; then the expectation that the big cities be slum-free and crime-free overnight.

3. The development of machinery which has siphoned men from the farms to the cities and from the factories to the streets with no adequate adult educational system to train them for a different life.

4. Failure to use the most effective mass media we have, namely television, to make up for the lag in education, the increase in crime or the slump in citizenship. On the contrary, TV has spurred crime and glorified poor citizenship.

The sad fact is that the delegates who orated and demonstrated at both Miami Beach and Chicago, and who sought new photogenic faces to lead them, had little basic understanding of these mistakes. They did not relate these to crime in the streets or student demonstrations and the black flags of anarchism.

Some of the delegates had just come from Washington where as members of Congress they had shunted aside a tough gun control law, thanks to a powerful lobby based on the outworn idea that every American has a right to carry a pitchfork and a squirrel rifle.

The two most momentous decisions the Supreme Court has handed down in 50 years were on school desegregation, which revolutionized the status of the Negro, and Baker vs. Carr, which reapportioned state legislatures. The latter shifted political control from the farms to the cities as far as states were concerned, but not as far as Congress is concerned.

This is the problem which the new president, whoever he is, will have to cope with.

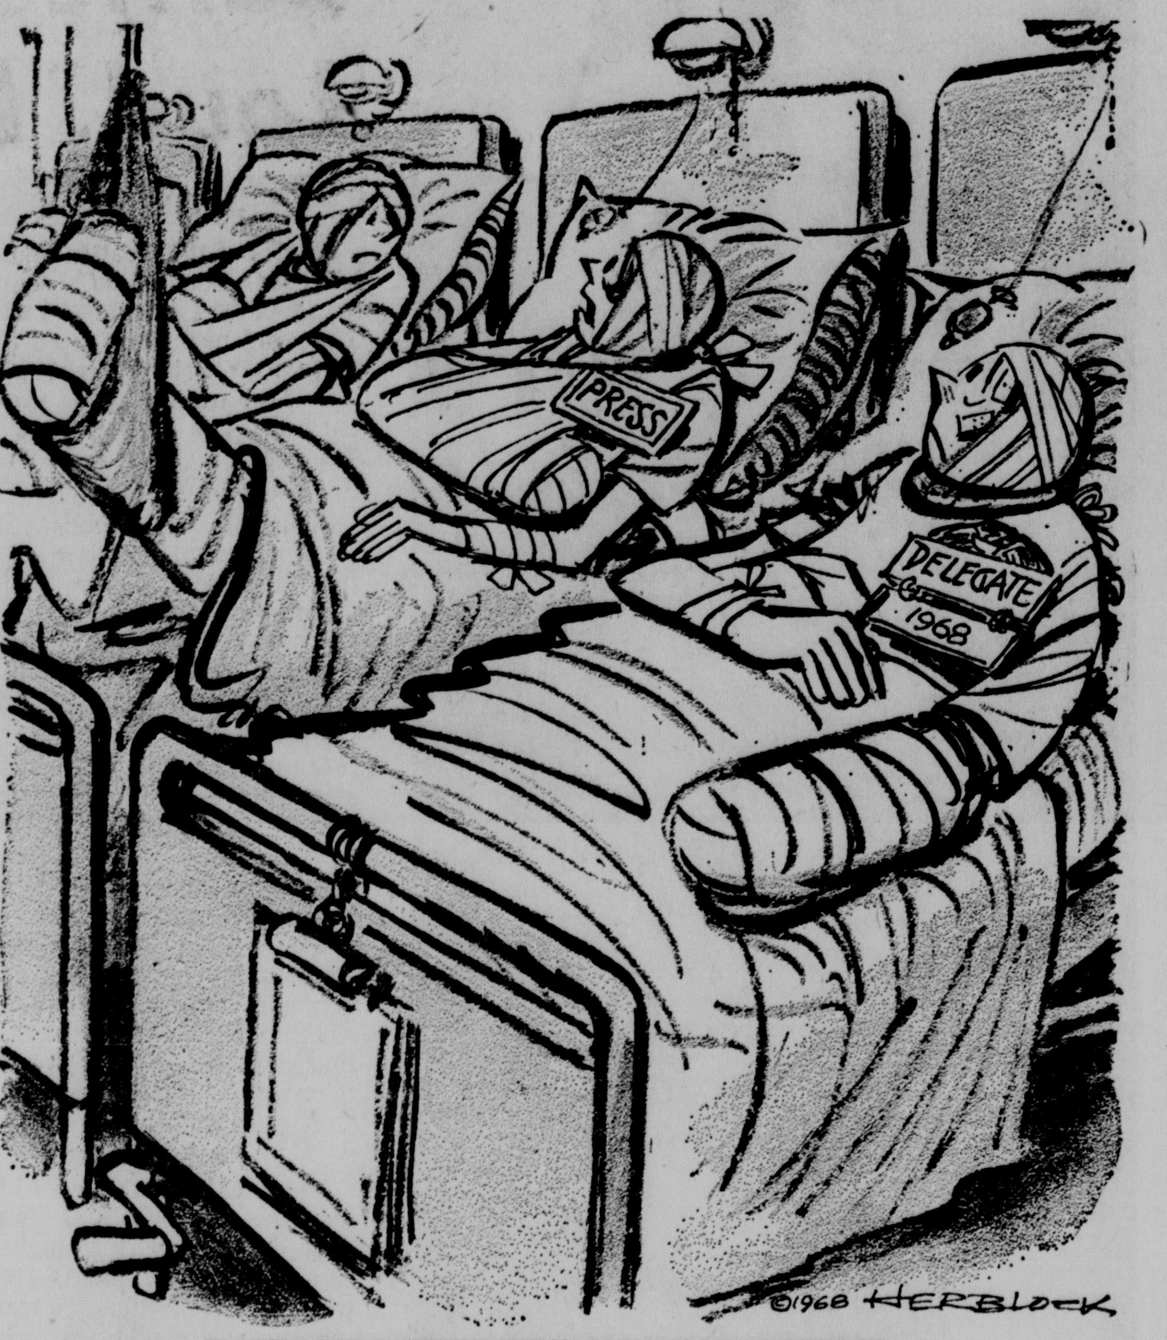
"Prague, Eh? We Got It From 'Security' Forces In Chicago"



Where You Find It

One of the most chronic, pathetic and tiresome cries to come out of young people today is that there is no place for them in the marts of trade, no financial returns for their talents, nothing lucrative to line their wallets and fulfill their boundless needs — no work to be had.

We hear it so often that sometimes we feel a bit stuffy in reiterating the solid old theory that there is always something to do for those who really want to do it. We are indebted to a young Lincolnite for once again proving it true.

Perhaps other Star readers noticed a little want-ad a few weeks ago. It had a good, positive sound to it. A direct approach that was appealing. It read: "Boy 16 wants work, part-time, full-time, anything."

It was as simple as that. He had a bargainable commodity to offer — his two hands — and he wasn't particularly concerned whether the fingernails of those hands got a little soiled.

We're not much for an unfinished story. Besides, there's this old theory that we keep defending. So we picked up the phone and dialed the number listed in the want-ad and asked the boy's mother what sort of response he had had.

She sounded rather pleased with her son and said he had done a good bit of painting and cleaning of windows, and the like. There had been the offer of a cafe job, but it would have taken him away from home. And his folks wanted him home, and even this was refreshing when one considers how many parents can hardly stand the sight of their progeny.

The whole matter finally evolved into a full-time selling job. A new product to the Midwest, his mother said, by way of the West Coast.

Would the job be ending when school started, we asked. Oh, no, she said. It would be evenings and Saturdays, but the company wanted him to continue.

Besides defending theories, we've always been inclined to rosy-dream. We envision the young man progressing to local supervisor and regional manager. A vice presidency and the rise to top man in the company.

Who knows? Anything is possible for a boy, 16, who wants work, "part-time, full-time, anything."

Tough Time For Newsmen

It's been a tough few days for newsmen.

They've been beaten up in Chicago parks by Chicago policemen, shot at in Czechoslovakia and — in some cases — slugged and knocked down on the floor of the Democratic National Convention.

CBS newsman Dan Rather was punched once or twice and knocked to the floor in Chicago when he tried to ask some legitimate questions of a pair of convention security guards. Rather kept his cool, but anchorman Walter Cronkite became furious and started talking in angry tones about "thugs" policing the convention. It was the first time Cronkite has ever become that excited on the air. Here is a man who covered both Kennedy assassinations as unemotionally as possible, but who became highly agitated when his colleague was roughed up. Newsmen don't take kindly to being kicked around, as everyone learned when the Democrats announced they were going to limit the number of reporters on the floor.

Just a few days ago an Omaha radio station reporter suffered a few lumps when he tried to help police capture an escaping prisoner.

As Dan Rather said, "It's all in a day's work."

Who ever said journalism isn't risky work?

The newsmen are where the action is. They always have been and always will be, any element of danger to the contrary.

The war correspondent, whose only weapons are his camera and notebook, has always been held in high esteem by the armed warriors at his side.

It is not difficult to understand why, viewing the Chicago battlefront.

JAMES RESTON
Humphrey Now Needs Democratic Truce Within His Party Ranks To Move Ahead

Chicago — The Democratic Party's problem at home now is a little like the Johnson administration's problem in Vietnam. It needs a political cease-fire. It needs to end the party bombing. It wants some honest peace talks with its political opponents in the North—McCarthy, Kennedy and McGovern — but it doesn't quite know how to arrange these things.

Vice President Humphrey talks a lot about "party reconciliation," but he relies on the big guns. He played the power game in the Chicago convention. He went with the old power centers of the Roosevelt coalition—or what's left of them—the union leaders, the Southern governors and the state chairmen in the North—and he won though, like Nixon, he was not able to get the support of either New York or California.

It was, however, a very expensive victory. He came out of it as the symbol of the old Democratic guard, the candidate of the pros, running on a Vietnam platform controlled if not dictated by Lyndon Johnson in a convention dominated by Mayor Daley of Chicago and his police, by John Bailey of Connecticut and Carl Albert of Oklahoma—both decent men but symbols of the past.

In an age of popular television politics, this is not necessarily a triumphant strategy. Humphrey was staggering along with Johnson on his back before the convention opened.

Now he has added to his burden Mayor Daley, who is quite a weight. It seems unlikely, but the Democratic script — Chicago, demonstrations, cops, Daley, and "end the war" chants on the floor — must have been written by Dick Nixon.

This is even worse from the Democratic point of view than Humphrey's friends — and he has many of them — expected. Wait till he gets the nomination, they said before Chicago. Then he will be his own man. Then he will be free of Johnson and the past. Then he will be young again.

But will he really? This is the question and it raises a fascinating human speculation among the men of his own age in Washington and Minneapolis, who have been close to him for 20 years and think they know him well.

They have always thought of Humphrey as a man ahead of his time, as a progressive innovator, who had more energy and ideas than most men of the young generation. In fact, the men closest to him have been startled and appalled by the anti-war and anti-administration demonstrators who regard Humphrey as a defender of the status quo, an ally of Johnson and the South and even as a warmonger on Vietnam.

Yet it is not at all clear at this point who is right — the old Humphrey believers or the young Humphrey critics. Humphrey is still caught between political ambition and personal conscience. For the time being, he is playing the old political power game, counting on the old politics and hoping that McCarthy, McGovern, and Teddy Kennedy will still believe in him enough to bring their followers into the campaign on his side against Nixon.

It is quite a gamble. Under the rules of the old-fashioned politics, it would probably have worked. Nixon is so unpopular with McCarthy, McGovern and Kennedy that it might succeed even now. In the end, they could swallow Johnson, Daley, Lester Maddox of Georgia, rather than lose to Nixon, but it is not a sure thing.

☆ ☆ ☆

Humphrey's old Middle Western friends — McCarthy and McGovern — are putting policy ahead of party or personality or even old friendship. None of them could have won the Democratic presidential nomination against Humphrey's power base, but any of them might have been Humphrey's vice presidential running mate, and McCarthy, McGovern and Kennedy all refused.

Also, while McGovern will support Humphrey for the presidency, McCarthy is withholding his support, and Humphrey's appeals to them for a show of unity at the end of the convention failed.

ALFRED M. LANDON
The Loyal Opposition

The 1936 presidential election was a mismatch between a practical businessman and a visionary political theorist. The businessman lost by the almost unbelievable score of 523 to 8.

Thus, Alfred M. Landon joined William H. Taft as one of the two men to receive such scant consideration from the American electoral college.

President Taft also received 8 electoral votes. However, Taft's popular vote had been only 3.4 million, while Landon polled 16.6 million. For nearly five times as many popular votes, Landon got exactly the same number of electoral votes as Taft. Thus does the electoral college represent the will of the people.

☆ ☆ ☆

Landon earned a law degree from Kansas University in 1908 but never practiced law. Instead he worked in a bank until he saved enough money to go into the oil fields as a "wildcat" prospector. Hardworking and shrewd, his success was solid but unspectacular. He procured an Army commission during World War I, but was still in training at the armistice.

Always interested in politics, Landon supported "Bull Mooser" Roosevelt in 1912. In 1922 he became secretary to Gov. Henry Allen. He subsequently became the leader of Kansas' liberal Republicans, and worked to elect Herbert Hoover in 1928.

☆ ☆ ☆

In 1933 Landon became governor of Kansas, winning again in 1935. It was from this position that the Republican Party bosses threw him into the political arena with Franklin D. Roosevelt.

It was no contest from start to finish. Landon was not only forced to admit that he approved of most of the things Roosevelt was trying to do for the "forgotten man," but he had previously gone on record as doing so.

"The civil works program," Landon wrote to President Roosevelt in 1934 from the governor's office, "is one of the soundest, most constructive policies of your administration, and I cannot too strongly urge its continuance."

Now he was hoisted by his own petard.

On the eve of the election, the Literary Digest poll showed Landon leading Roosevelt by a whopping 70% of the popular vote.

Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley predicted that Landon would carry only the states of Maine and Vermont.

Postmaster General Farley was right on target.

INEZ ROBB
Young Ted Part Of Kennedy Mystique

CHICAGO—He kept saying "No!" and finally even the most fervent admirers of young Sen. Edward M. Kennedy had to take him at his word.

But if Teddy Kennedy had said "Yes," the Democratic National Convention would have handed him the prize on a silver platter.

In their hearts it was Teddy that the delegates wanted. To the young, he is one of their own, the embodiment of what they dream of as the new politics. To the middle-aged he was, quite cynically, the symbol of certain victory at the polls in this uncertain year of maverick voters.

And, even more cynically, to the Kennedy clique—the "in group" during the John F. Kennedy administration—Sen. Teddy Kennedy is the legitimate heir. He would sweep aside the pretenders who have occupied the White House and the power structure in the interim and return Kennedy "advisers" to the power they allegedly enjoyed during the JFK administration.

That clique, omnipresent during the convention, included such Kennedy familiars as Theodore Sorensen, Arthur Schlesinger, Richard Goodwin, John Kenneth Galbraith and Lucky Pierre Salinger (President Kennedy's press secretary who must either get an instant haircut or join the hippies).

They were variously supporting either Sen. George McGovern or Sen. Eugene McCarthy. But their goal is a restoration of the Kennedy line. And their hands again on the power structure.

In the convention's second fighting, feisty session that lasted all Tuesday night and into Wednesday morning, delegates on the floor were electrified by the rumor that McCarthy was coming to the auditorium to announce his withdrawal from the presidential race.

Shortly before that midnight, the noisy but abortive demonstration for Teddy Kennedy started on the floor and in the galleries after the rumor of McCarthy's withdrawal had circulated throughout the auditorium.

☆ ☆ ☆

There is a Kennedy syndrome in the Democratic Party, and beyond. But within the party that syndrome is half pure political opportunism based on the belief that the Kennedy name is magic in the political arena and half the kind of worship generated by charisma, by youth and good looks, by the magic of money and a famous name, by charm, glamour and myth.

Call it the Kennedy mystique. It cannot be touched or seen or materialized. But it is as solid and real to the United States as if it were the Washington Monument, or the Grand Canyon, or the Golden Gate.

It is one of the most fascinating political phenomenons in American history. And no man today can guess how long it will endure, how long this bereft and grieving family will be the focus of so much magic, so much unabating interest for the public — Democrats and Republicans alike.

☆ ☆ ☆

The only exception to the general enthusiasm here for a Kennedy candidacy was a grim and widespread fear, mainly expressed by women, that the Kennedy family must not be asked to expose a third son of the fate of his two brothers.

Throughout this nation there is a deep-rooted fear—superstition, if you will, but gravely felt — that young Sen. Edward M. Kennedy is in mortal peril.

There may be no logic in this belief, but it is beyond the power of logic to uproot it at the moment. Among persons of all political beliefs, there is an unusually tender and protective attitude toward the only surviving Kennedy brother.

Time may erode this feeling.

It may even erode the Kennedy mystique. But I would not bet on that in 1972 or '76.

Governmental Immunity KO'd

By United Press International

The State Supreme Court, in a 4-3 decision, Friday swept aside the concept of governmental immunity from damage suits arising out of accidents by government-owned motor vehicles.

The court reversed a Douglas County District Court decision to dismiss a damage suit by Barbara Brown of Omaha. She had been injured in an accident with an Omaha police patrol car.

Associate Justice Hale McCown, writing for the majority, noted that the Supreme Court ruled last year that government agencies are not exempt from liability when acting in a proprietary manner.

The differences between the two cases, McCown said, "defy logical explanation."

"Particularly during the past 10 years," he said, "judicial opinions in increasing volume have pointed out the fact that the reasons underlying the traditional wide-sweeping rule of sovereign immunity have virtually disappeared in modern society. The rule is today no longer just, reasonable, nor defensible."

Common Law

The idea of governmental immunity, McCown said, is based on common law, and therefore if the Legislature fails to change it the court has the power to do so.

The fact that some governmental subdivisions have already obtained liability insurance, the court said, constitutes a waiver of immunity.

The court said its opinion would not go into effect until after Sept. 22 in order to allow the various public bodies time to acquire liability insurance or some other means of financial protection from suit.

Dissent

Writing for the dissenters, Associate Justice John E. Newton said the court was intruding into an area which is "strictly a legislative function."

"If the present system be deemed obsolete and unjust it will nevertheless not be helpful to plunge the public into a morass of uncertainty by the adoption of an activist judicial philosophy," he said.

Newton said it makes no difference whether the rule of governmental immunity is based on common law "for the simple reason that it has been preserved to the state by the constitution."

"In plain terms, the majority opinion chooses to ignore the constitution and to determine the case on the theory that the constitution is applicable unless matters appearing to be of great public policy declare otherwise," Newton said.

Newton was joined in his dissent by Chief Justice Paul W. White and Associate Justice Edward Carter. They had also opposed the court's ruling last year that abolished governmental immunity when an agency acts as a proprietor.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Happy Senior Citizen Master Of Own Fate

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. — "My niece recently complimented me on how well I manage my affairs and enjoy life at 82 years of age. She asked my secret. I thought a minute and said I've always told myself God gave me hands and a brain and that if I don't like the way things are going it's up to me to change things. What do you think of my answer?"

A. — Admirable. Too many people these days want others to do things for them that they could often do themselves. Many also spend much of their leisure indulging in self-pity or complaining about what's wrong with the world. We need more people such as you spreading the doctrine that we are the masters of our fate and shouldn't expect pity or peppermints from others.

Q. — "That was a silly column you wrote extolling an 82-year-old barber who has a nice nest egg plus Social Security but still cuts hair. I claim there's nothing commendable about him. If he had any brains he'd have quit years ago and would be spending his retirement reading good books, observing nature, and traveling instead of wasting his days trimming the turf on other people's noggins."

A.—Many elders claim purposeful work is fully as satisfying as reading good books, observing nature and traveling. Work is a rudder that keeps life from becoming aimless, and while no one should pursue it so assiduously as to shut out other delights there's evidence that a segment of toil daily enables folks to better appreciate their hours of leisure.

Q.—"I have such pleasant recollections of my gentle grandparents that I was shocked yesterday when I went to a senior citizen rally discussing needed changes in the Social Security system. It was like having ringside seats at a fight. What has happened to our elders?"

A.—They can still be gentle but they're awakening to their new power as a rapidly expanding segment of the population. They have needs they feel aren't being met and they're demanding that society take notice and help them achieve essentials for security, health care and comfort.

Miss Nebraska Governor's Guest At Press Briefing

A special guest—Miss Nebraska of 1968—added a non-political note Friday to Governor Norbert T. Tiemann's weekly news conference.

Diane Boldt, a sophomore at Kearney State College, will represent Nebraska at the Miss America Pageant at Atlantic City next week.

Miss Boldt was non-committal when she was asked whom she prefers in this year's presidential race. She said that while her parents are Republicans "I don't really have a definite political party."

The tall brunette had more definite views on the voting age.

Miss Boldt, who is 19, said she isn't sure the voting age should be lowered to 18 but that it should be made the same as the draft age.

Miss Boldt is majoring in elementary education at Kearney State. She said she would like to teach in a town "about the size of Grand Island or Kearney" when she is graduated.

Miss Boldt leaves for Atlantic City Sunday.

ROGER SHERWOOD

Lincoln Cadet Is Cited As Outstanding

A University of Nebraska senior was named the outstanding cadet in a field of 3,450 cadets from 51 universities throughout the Midwest at the annual Army ROTC Summer Camp in Fort Riley, Kan.

He is Roger J. Sherwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sherwood of 2900 South in Lincoln. Sherwood is majoring in psychology and sociology in the university's College of Arts and Sciences.

Cadets are rated on the basis of leadership, job performance, rifle marksmanship, and military proficiency during the summer camp. Several University of Nebraska cadets also scored high in the individual ratings.

Earlier this year Sherwood was named the outstanding member of the Scarlet Berets, a new Army ROTC group at the university for cadets interested in training for special forces assignments.

Drivers Asked To Use Lights

Nebraska motorists were asked Friday by Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann to drive with their headlights on low beam during daylight hours throughout the Labor Day weekend.

The governor said the turning on of headlights in the daytime "is an important link in the recommended technique of defensive driving and is recognized as an additional and effective measure for self-protection for motorists."

Tiemann To Speak For Nixon

By United Press International

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann said Friday he has scheduled at least two campaign appearances outside of Nebraska for Republican presidential candidate Richard Nixon.

Tiemann said the dates of the appearances "haven't been firmed up yet" and that he may make more than two appearances. He said one of the two which he definitely will make will be a closed circuit television address to simultaneous dinners to be held in 24 cities and the other appearance will be on a national television program.

Tiemann said the disturbances which occured in Chicago both in and outside of the Democratic National Convention this week "probably insured a Republican victory this fall."

Tiemann also said the convention "dashed" the hopes of many young people in the country. "Time after time there were examples of young people who made protests and the protests were unheeded," he said.

"I think the Republican Party should make a special appeal to the millions of young people in America now because of this," he said.

The governor was noncommittal when asked about the performance of police and National Guard troops in Chicago in handling protesters.

"All we were exposed to on television were pictures of police beating protesters," he said. "I'm sure there were instances of protesters beating police. I don't really feel qualified to make any kind of judgment on that."

On another matter at his Friday news conference, Tiemann said there are "several" items he would like to see in the Republican State Platform to be drawn up next weekend in Lincoln at the party's state convention.

"I want to see an open housing plank for sure," he said. "Another thing I would like to see is something reaffirming the position of the Republican Party in regard to our tax laws."

The party, at a pre-primary convention in March, endorsed the state sales-income tax law passed by the Legislature in 1967.

Niobrara Girl's Body Recovered

Verdel (AP) — Searchers Thursday night recovered the body of Delberta Denney, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Denney of Niobrara, from the Missouri River near here.

The girl drowned Sunday while on an outing with other youngsters about five miles east of Verdel.

Funeral services are pending.

Meet Star Carrier Steven Samuelson

STEVEN SAMUELSON Enjoys Route

Having a paper route is great, says Steven Samuelson of Lincoln.

An enthusiastic bicycle rider, Steven enjoys delivering the morning paper. And the bookkeeping connected with route is easy for Steven who — according to his mother — is a "walking calculator."

Steven was able to buy his own bike with the profits from his job despite saving most of his earnings for a college education.

A student at Everett Junior High School, Steven's favorite subjects are science and mathematics. He is also a member of his school's wrestling team.

Some of Steven's favorite spare time activities are fishing and swimming. He also spends many hours playing with his Siamese kitten — a gift from a grateful customer.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Samuelson, feel that being a carrier salesman for The Lincoln Star has helped their son adopt good work habits and has taught him responsibility and thrift.

The "Sunday Journal and Star" delivered at your door has six sections of interesting, timely features. You'll like the sports section known as "Sports Red", whether you are a Husker fan, or hunter.

. . . "and every man shall receive his own reward, according to his own labour; for we are labourers together with God." Those lines from Corinthians, might well be the inspiration for the holiday America observes . . . a special day set aside to pay respect to those who labor to make our nation great and, consequently, keep it free. This is Labor Day . . . when each man and woman whose work helps keep the bulwark of Democracy strong, receives "his own reward" in the satisfaction of a job well done.

It is not just another day for looking back on past accomplishment — this Labor Day. In a strange new scientific world which taxes comprehension, it is a time for looking ahead . . . for rededicating ourselves. We must need those Corinthian lines which asks us all to be "labourers together with God."

Forces Of Congo Republic Besiege Leftist Rebels' Camp

Brazzaville, Congo Republic (AP) — The army of the Congo Republic besieged Friday a military camp where leftist elements of the militia and gendarmes were mounting a last-ditch stand against the new government of President Alphonse Massamba-Debat.

The Defense Ministry of this former French possession bordering on the former Belgian Congo declared a state of siege, imposed a curfew and blocked roads to the camp.

Mortar fire was heard and machine-gun and rifle fire rattled between the army and the rebels at Camp de la Meteo-Logie in Brazzaville's outskirts.

Nurses Sought

There was no indication of the number of casualties, but Radio Brazzaville broadcast continuous urgent appeals for surgical nurses to report to work immediately and for citizens to donate blood.

The army has been slow to launch an all-out attack because of the heavy population nearby, informed sources said.

Dozens of times a tape was played of President Massamba-Debat's emotional appeal to the rebels to give in.

French Housewives

Among the first to report the trouble were French housewives who scurried inside to escape bullets whistling through their gardens. There were many reports of men stopped by roadblocks as they attempted to get home after telephone calls from their wives.

A Defense Department communique asked all inhabitants near the camp to evacuate their homes.

Diplomats here reported the rebels had machine pistols and automatic weapons given them by Communist Chinese. A number of police officials and two former ministers were accused of distributing Congolese arms to the rebels.

The ex-ministers, Andre Hombessa and Michel Bindi, have disappeared and some reports say they are in the camp.

The rebels appeared to be mostly leftist elements of the youth militia, along with some gendarmes.

Federal Charges Requested Against County Jail Escapee

Lancaster County Atty. Paul Douglas Friday requested the federal government to file unlawful flight to avoid prosecution charges against Bert Taylor Jr. in connection with his escape from the Lancaster County jail a week ago.

Earlier this week, Douglas filed in Lancaster County Court four felony charges with penalties totaling up to 75 years against Taylor in connection with his encape and involvement in the assault on D. T. Higbee, jailor on duty.

According to Sheriff Merle Karnopp, Higbee, who suffered a head injury when he was struck on the head with a three-foot piece of pipe, was released from the hospital Friday.

Taylor's companion, Raymond Duane Hanson, who was caught within minutes after the escape, pleaded guilty in Lancaster District Court Monday to an escape charge.

Conference To Explore Uses Of ITV

The uses of instructional television in higher education will be explored by representatives of 19 Nebraska colleges and universities at a two-day conference Wednesday and Thursday.

The conference, at the Cornhusker Hotel, will be conducted by the Nebraska Educational Television Council for Higher Education.

Participants will learn "what they can do to assist the development of instructional television on their campuses . . . and NETCHE," according to NETCHE Director Lee Rockwell.

Faculty personnel who will serve as ITV coordinators at Chadron, Wayne, Kearney and Peru State Colleges; Dana, Doane, Hastings and York Colleges; Midland Lutheran College; Nebraska Wesleyan University; Union College and the College of St. Mary will attend the conference on released time financed under the Higher Education Act of 1965.

Lincolnite Given New Scholarship

Margaret Mahoney of 7239 Starr has had her 1967-68 National Merit Scholarship renewed for another year at the College of St. Catherine, St. Paul, Minn., according to the academic dean of the college.

Miss Mahoney, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Mahoney, received the scholarship for her excellent scholastic record, the announcement said. Miss Mahoney will be a sophomore majoring in languages.

4,100 Veterans Due To Enroll Under GI Bill

Approximately 4,100 post-Korean War veterans will be enrolled this fall in education and training in Nebraska under the GI Bill, according to Caldwell W. Nixon, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office.

An estimated 600 servicemen in the state are expected to enter training under the bill which grants educational benefits to military personnel with at least two consecutive years of active duty as well as to veterans who served on active duty for more than 180 days, part of which was after Jan. 31, 1955.

Veterans who will be entering training for the first time under the GI Bill or who will be changing schools should apply to the VA Regional Office for their certificate of eligibility, Nixon said.

Nixon said 2,300 of the veterans and 400 of the servicemen will be enrolled in institutions of higher learning.

More than 1,600 veterans and 200 servicemen are expected to enter schools below the college level this fall.

Explosion Heard Outside Home Of U.S. Diplomat

Mexico City (AP)—An explosion was heard outside the residence of U. S. Ambassador Fulton Freeman Friday morning, a U. S. spokesman said. But police could find no sign of damage at Fulton's home or elsewhere in the fashionable residential neighborhood.

The spokesman said Freeman was working at his desk when he heard the explosion and went out to investigate. He smelled smoke but saw no trace of any explosive device, the spokesman said. .

Students who have been rioting here almost daily for a month have denounced the United States as well as the Mexican government but police said there was no evidence to link them with the explosion.

Czech To Direct First NU Archives

A native of Czechoslovakia is directing the development of the first official archives at the University of Nebraska as a means of preserving and making available the institution's heritage.

Joseph G. Svoboda, who left Czechoslovakia following the Communist coup d'etat in 1948, has joined the university staff as archivist after holding a similar position at the Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland, Ohio.

He has served with the public records and archives department in the Canadian province of Ontario, the Wyoming state archives and historical department and the Cast Institute.

He holds a B.A. degree in modern history from the University of Toronto, a diploma in the management of archives from American University in Washington, D.C., and has done graduate work at the University of Delhi in India.

JOSEPH SVOBODA

Archives Director

Svoboda is enthusiastic about his new position at the university because it offers the opportunity of using the most modern methods in an archival program and starting from scratch avoids disturbing the previous order.

While many persons connected with the university over the years have carefully savied materials of all kinds, there has been no central location for preserving and making the information available to faculty, students, alumni and other interested persons.

Now various docmuents, letters, speeches, maps, photographs, printed materials and reminiscences of alumni and staff can become a part of the university archives in Love Library and made available to all interested persons.

A Bride On Friday

At a 7:30 o'clock service on Friday evening, Aug. 30, the marriage of Miss Mary Ann Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur A. Miller, to Rodney E. Stamper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Stamper of Rapid City, S.D., took place at St. Paul Methodist Church. Dr. Clarence Forsberg solemnized the ceremony, and Miss Vicki Varvel played the wedding music. Mrs. John Luethje was the vocal soloist.

The attendants, including Mrs. Gerald Martin of Omaha, the matron of honor; Miss Patricia Feeney of Pierre, S.D., the maid of honor, and bridesmaid Miss Jo Ellen Stamper of Rapid City, S.D., were frocked alike in wheat-toned serge designed with Empire bodices beneath which the floor-length skirts were A-line. Each carried a single, bronze chrysanthemum.

Michael Messenger of Cody, Wyo., served as best man, and seating the guests were Pat O'Brien of Omaha; Steven Eberspacher of Seward, and James S. Miller.

The bride appeared in a gown of white, blended silk. The high, throat line of the long-sleeved, fitted bodice, was contoured with an Eton collar of Venetian lace and the skirt, created of soft folds of the silk, touched the floor. Her tiered veil was held to the head with a pillbox of the Venetian lace, and she carried a bouquet of spider chrysanthemums.

Mr. Stamper, a former student at the University of South Dakota, and his bride will reside in Omaha where the bridegroom now attends the University of Nebraska at Omaha. The bride is a graduate of the University of South Dakota.

Fun News In Suburbia

It is too early, of course, to make any definite prediction but if yesterday was any indication, we are all set for a totally beautiful weekend. The weather is turning towards fall; the sun shining "to beat the band", but the cool temperature makes it easy to move around whether at the State Fair or in our own backyards.

But even if the weather should let us down, Suburbia won't because of its beautiful plans for all sorts of family and neighborhood get-togethers — a wonderful way to begin a new season.

Take Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Soflin in Eastborough, for instance. Their gay festivities began last Sunday when their granddaughter Mrs. Richard Thomas, and Mr. Thomas, arrived for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas have been residing in Tucson, Ariz., while Mr. Thomas has been attending the University there. This summer he was graduated and they are now on their way to Allentown, Pa., where he will take up the engineering profession. They are planning to remain in Lincoln until the middle of next week.

The festivities for Mr. and Mrs. Thomas began Thursday night when they were honored at a barbecue for which Mr. and Mrs. Soflin's son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Francis McAvoy, also residents of Eastborough, were host and hostess at their home. The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. Soflin's daughter, Miss Betty Soflin; their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Soflin. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Soflin and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Meir of Hastings.

The activity also will continue Sunday when there will be a family dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Soflin.

Another family on the go in Eastborough this weekend will be Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd R. Emmons who will go to Franklin where they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elton Potter. Fun activities on their list will be boating and water skiing at Harlan County Dam.

Last Saturday was arrival day for more visitors to Eastborough. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene F. Clare have as their guests Mr. Clare's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leland T. Clare of San Antonio, Tex.

Evening Wedding

Arrangements of gladioli in shades of deep pink, orange and white formed the chancel decor at St. Thomas Aquinas Church on Friday evening, Aug. 30, for the marriage of Miss Barbara Kay Zalewski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Zalewski of San Jose, Calif., to John R. Schneider, son of Mrs. Jack Schneider, and the late Mr. Schneider. The ceremony was solemnized at 7 o'clock by the Rev. R. V. Hain.

Wearing floor-length frocks of serge in the pomegranate tone were Miss Kate Walsh of Anaheim, Calif., the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Marianne Kielian of Omaha, and Miss Pam Schneider, sister of the bridegroom. They carried crescents of pale pink gladioli.

Ron Kirkendall served Mr. Schneider as best man, and seating the guests were Jim Ganser and Jack Stark.

Designed in the Empire mode, the bride's gown was fashioned of white Chantilly lace and peau de soie. Petal scallops of the lace edged the portrait neckline of the long-sleeved lace basque, and jeweled appliques of the lace trimmed the slim skirt and panel train. Her bouffant illusion veil was held by a pearl crown, and she carried a cascade arrangement of summer blossoms.

Mr. Schneider and his bride will reside at 2910 Dudley.

A graduate of St. Thomas Seminary, Denver, Colo., and a former student at Rockhurst College, Kansas City, Mo., Mr. Schneider is studying for his Masters degree in counseling and psychology at the University of Nebraska. A student at the University of Nebraska, Mrs. Schneider has attended San Jose State College, San Jose, Calif.

Former Coed, Bride

The chancel of St. John's Lutheran Church in Seward was appointed with white candles burning in pedestal hurricane lanterns for the wedding of Miss Sandie Beckman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Beckman of Seward, and Ralph Schrader, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schrader of Neligh. The Rev. L. W. Heidemann read the lines of the 7 o'clock service, and the wedding music was played by Herbert Peter, organist, and Jim Walker, trumpet soloist. The vocalists were Miss Jean Conner and Mr. Walker.

Aqua linen frocks trimmed in moss green were chosen for Mrs. Roger Elrod of Lincoln, and Miss Coni Beckman, sister of the bride, who were the honor attendants, and the bridesmaids, Miss Diane Nohavec, Omaha; Miss Mary Jean Utiger, Denver; and Miss Pam Aegerter, Seward.

Serving Mr. Schrader as best man was Robert W. Jones of Marblehead, Mass., and the corps of ushers included Tom Schrader of Chadron, brother of the bridegroom; Dean Lauritzen, Chicago; Jan Jensen, Ralston; Sam Seever and Steve Woodman, Omaha; Gary Weik, Tom Farber, Tom Hoffman and Jim Wanek, Lincoln.

For her wedding gown, the bride selected white cotton lace over taffeta. Designed with a high throatline and brief sleeves, the slender gown was complemented by a cotillion-length train of peau de soie, and a profile bandeaux of pearl-dotted lace held her bouffant veil of illusion. She carried gardenias, stephanotis and ivy in a cascade bouquet.

Mr. Schrader and his bride will reside in Schuyler where the bridegroom will be an instructor in biology at the Schuyler High School.

The bride was graduated last spring she is a member of Phi Mu sorority from Nebraska Wesleyan University where Mr. Schrader also was a spring graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan, and his fraternity is Phi Kappa Tau.

Morning Ceremony

Lighted candles in tiered, circular candelabra, and pink floral arangements appointed the chancel of the Second Baptist Church where the wedding of Miss Cathie Lee Cather, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Cather, Jr., and Thomas Michael Petsch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Petsch of Columbus, took place on Friday morning, Aug. 30. The 11 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Earl H. Byleen, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Joe Dennison.

Mrs. Richard Reiser as the matron of honor and only attendant, appeared in a gown of antique rose moire. The long-sleeved bodice, designed with a slit, mandarin collar, tapered to a natural waistline beneath which the floor-length skirt had dirndl fullness. She carried a nosegay of pink, miniature asters, pink sweetheart roses and gypsophelia.

Stephen E. Petsch served his brother as best man, and seating the guests were Jay B. Cather, brother of the bride, and William Strateman of Gretna.

A gown of white Alencon lace was chosen by the bride for her wedding. The long-sleeved smoothly sculptured bodice was designed with a jewel neckline contoured with a stand-up ruffle, and beneath the slender, normal waistline, with its back-bowed white satin, the dirndl skirt was floor length. A demi-cloche, ornamented with a petite tailleur white satin bow, held to the head her illusion veil which extended into a cathedral train from shoulder-length triple tiers of the illusion, and she carried a nosegay of lilies-of-the-valley, pink roses and gypsophelia.

Upon their return from a honeymoon trip to Kansas City, Mo., Mr. Petsch and his bride will reside at 1733 A St.

The bride is a senior at the University of Nebraska where she is majoring in journalism, and where she is a member of Alpha Phi sorority, and of Theta Sigma Phi, an honorary for women in journalism.

Mr. Petsch is a senior in the College of Business Administration at the University of Nebraska, and is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

Nebraskan Elected

Elected to serve a three-year term as a vice-president of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women at the International Congress held in London, England, last week was Miss Sarah Jane Cunningham, McCook attorney. Also named to a vice-presidency was another woman from the United States — Dr. Minnie C. Miles, professor of commerce and business administration at the University of Alabama.

Opening lead — three of diamonds.

Australia finished fifth in the 33-nation Olypmiad, narrowly missing a place among the top four, which would have qualfied them to participate in the semi-final knockout round.

The Australians revealed a generally dashing style of bidding, as exemplified by this hand from their 20-board match against the United States, on which Cummings and Seres got to six clubs in three rapid-fire bids.

(At the other table, the American North-South pair stopped at three notrump after a club opening bid by South, a no-trump response by North, and a jump to three notrump by South.)

As played by the Australian pair, Cummings' raise to two clubs was highly constructive and showed virtually the same length and strength as a jump to three clubs would in most other systems.

Despite his three-card suit, Seres had no compunctions about leaping directly to six clubs, which proved to be an excellent contract.

Had Robinson (playing with Jordan) led a spade or a heart, Seres would have had twelve easy tricks, but Robinson led a diamond instead.

Seres won with the ace and played the K-A and another trump. Jordan took the queen and returned a heart. Declarer went up with the ace, crossed to dummy with a diamond, and played two more trumps to produce this position:

Abby: the surprise is over

DEAR ABBY: I suppose you must get a lot of fake problems but this is the real McCoy.

I am a 1st lieutenant in an infantry outfit in Vietnam. I am due to go on R & R the end of this month, and planned to meet Judy, my fiancee, in Hawaii.

Tonight I received a letter from Judy telling me that my mother is planning to go to Hawaii and "surprise" me on my R & R. My mother and Judy are rather close, but I'm sure this wasn't Judy's idea.

Believe me, I love my mother, but I am 25 years old and Judy is 22 and the last thing I want right now is my mother on my R & R (Rest and Recuperation) with me.

How do I tell her to stay home without hurting her feelings?

STARS AND STRIPER

DEAR S AND S: If your mother and Judy are "rather close," your mother probably knows Judy is meeting you in Hawaii so mother may think you need a chaperone. Unless you want to be the dummy in a three-handed honeymoon bridge game, better tell Mom you were "surprised" already to hear of her intended visit, so to please skip the trip.

Jennie Lou Piper Celebrates Birthday

No one had more fun at Jennie Lou Piper's birthday party than Jennie Lou Piper. It was by no means a surprise affair — It happens just about every year thanks to a group of Miss Piper's friends.

The ring leader in the party department, as far as Miss Piper's anniversary festivities are concerned, is Mrs. Philip Schmelkin of Des Moines who for those who don't already know, is the former Ruth Palmer, Alpha Omicron Pi at Nebraska. Mrs. Schmelkin invites a group of Miss Piper's friends for a luncheon.

This year the party was a belated celebration since Miss Piper's official birthday was last Wednesday and the luncheon was on Friday at Gateway Manor where Miss Piper resides.

In the picture are, left to right, Mrs. Ralph Reed, Mrs. Helen G. Robertson, Mrs. John Vogt, Mrs. Kenneth McCaw, Miss Piper, blowing out the four candles on her birthday cake — Mrs. Schmelkin, Mrs. Waldon Howey, Mrs. Ralph Hill and Mrs. William F. Swanson.

Stripper Says:

Girl Show 'Legitimate'

By JIM STEVENSON
Star Staff Writer

There are those, perhaps, who consider strip shows an undesirable part of a big fair.

But the girls themselves hotly deny it.

Angel Dior, 21-year-old stripper and co-owner of the Chez Paree show at the Nebraska State Fair this year, feels emphatically that stripping is legitimate entertainment.

"It's never been a moral issue with me," she said. "It's always a business."

She considers applause from the audience approval of her dance act — not her body.

'Not Ugly'

"Of course, we can't use real ugly girls in the show," she said. "But just any attractive girl won't get the applause that a talented dancer will."

And she talks scornfully of "girls who ask, 'How can you do it?' and then run around with Tom and Dick and . . . you know."

Today, with nudity and semi-nudity becoming more and more accepted, Angel feels the profession is becoming even more of an art.

"Now we HAVE to have girls who are real entertainers . . . not just strippers," Angel, a pretty redhead, added.

Defends Own Show

Angel defends her own show — the Chez Paree — with ever more vigor than she does the profession.

"There are shows that I wouldn't work on and that I wouldn't want anybody else to work on," she said.

"But I've taught all six of our girls how to dance, and we're careful to run an orderly, clean show," she said.

Once in a while a misdirected drunk — "who expects something besides the show" — causes trouble, she said, adding that trouble makers are quickly ousted.

"Exotic" — not "erotic" — is the way Angel describes the dances.

Say It's A Revue

She prefers to term the Chez Paree a "girl show or revue" rather than a strip or girlie show.

And the carny barker's continual phrase, "Ladies Welcome," isn't a put-on, Angel said.

"We have a lot of women who come to the shows, and they get a bigger kick out of it than the men do."

There can be no dispute, at any rate, to Angel's claim that the girl show can sometimes lead to bigger things.

After all, did you ever hear of Sally Rand?

150 4-H'ERS CHALLENGE PROFESSORS

A "beat the professors" contest on "cutability" challenged the knowledge of two University of Nebraska Animal Science professors against some 150 4-H'ers plus 200 adults and county agents.

The contest is designed as a teaching tool to show 4-H'ers how to judge the cutability of a steer on the hoof.

The professors, Dr. Roger Mandigo and Assistant Professor Vince Arthaud, selected ten steers from the Class R Beef Carcass Exhibit. These are not necessarily the top steers of the exhibit. They actually represent a wide range of quality chosen for the purpose of teaching 4-H'ers how to judge cutability.

"Each of these steers have a lesson to teach in judging," Dr. Mandigo said.

The ten steers were led into the 4-H arena and the 4-H'ers and adults ranked them in order of cutability — one to ten.

Following this, the professors announced their ranking of the steers. Monday, following slaughter, the placing of the carcasses will be announced.

Those who beat the professors in the contest will be made honorary professors of beef carcass evaluation.

Douglas Boy Top Judge Of Poultry

A Douglas County 4-H member won individual honors in poultry judging at the Nebraska State Fair Friday, and Saline County won first place in team judging.

David Paasch of Elkhorn scored 639 of a possible 700 points to win individual laurels in a field of 26 Four-H competitors. The Saline County team, composed of Raymond Slama, Twila Justa and Bob Slama, with David Duchek an alternate, scored 1,853 of a possible 2,100 points.

Raymond Slama and Miss Justa were second and sixth place individuals, respectively. Rounding out the top 10 were Lorraine Lienemann, Papillion, third; Patty Haug, Papillion, fourth; Greg Vacek, Bellevue, fifth; Andrhea Giese, Rt. 3, Omaha, seventh; Tom Stander, Weeping Water, eighth; Marlene Timmerman, Papillion, ninth; and Barbara Widhelm, Valley, tenth.

Trailing Saline County in team competition were Sarpy County in both second and third places. Cass County and Douglas County were fourth and fifth respectively.

Brother And Sister Team Among Fair's 4-H Dairy Show Winners

by GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Winners named in the State Fair's largest 4-H Club dairy show here Friday included a brother-sister combination that exhibited the champion and reserve champion Milking Shorthorn cows.

The owners were Linda Kimmerling, 16, and her brother Kent, 14, children of Mr. and Mrs. Max Kimmerling of Beatrice.

Various combinations emerged among the dairy championships including a mother-daughter combination for Judy Wiechert, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wiechert of Lincoln.

Last year Judy's cow named Faith was reserve champion. This year Faith was reserve champion again but her daughter, named Fairy, was the champion Guernsey cow.

Two students at Lincoln's East High School took the division.

Randy Steinhausen, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Steinhausen of Lincoln, showed the champion Jersey after five years previously having exhibited the reserve champion.

"It was about time I won the championship," said Randy.

This year the reserve champion Jersey was shown by Becky West, 18, daughter of Mr. and and Mrs. C. W. West of Roca. Becky is well known in Nebraska show rings having exhibited the champion at Ak-Sar-Ben last fall.

Elmwood Winner

Ayrshire wins went to Gary Hall, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hall of Elmwood, who showed the champion. Reserve champion Ayrshire was shown by Teresa Axberg, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Axberg of Lincoln.

The Kapke Family and Brown Swiss champions are synonymous at the state fair.

This year it was Barry Kapke, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Kapke of Fairbury who showed the champion Brown Swiss. Reserve champion honors went to Willa McCleary, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don McCleary of Callaway.

Familiar names among the dairy breeds continued to make their entry into the championships as Robert Fishler, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Fishler of Central City, showed the champion Holstein.

Another often winner in 4-H activities Gary Traeger, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Deyo Traeger of Fairbury showed the reserve champion.

4-H Horse Show Biggest Ever At State Fair

The 4-H Horse Show at the Nebraska State Fair is the largest in history, an outgrowth of the highest enrollment ever in the 4-H Light Horse project around the state. Statewide enrollment in the horse project was 3,939 this year, compared to 3,544 last year.

Exhibitors winning the first purple ribbon in each class also picked up trophies provided by the Quarter Horse Association of Nebraska and the Nebraska Appaloosa Horse Club.

Here are final placings given to halter class horses:

Nebraska's Centennial Quilt Is Spectacular Fair Exhibit

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Centennial year quilt was not submitted in time for 1968 State Fair judging, but the hand-sewn masterpiece by a Bloomfield woman has to be the most spectacular domestic products exhibit this year.

Mrs. Walter Wenke, a farm wife and mother of four, embroidered and quilted entirely by hand the panorama of the state's history to commemorate its centennial.

Needlework exhibition supervisors hung the colorful quilt prominently in their display in the Fine Arts Building.

First Exhibited

Mrs. Wenke began embroidering the exquisitely detailed pictures and script Jan. 28, 1967, and finished Nov. 9, 1967. She quilted it in February and exhibited it for the first time at the Knox County Fair last week.

Dominating the work of art is an outline of the map of the United States surrounding 21 American birds in brilliant colors. Larger bird pictures are scattered throughout the quilt.

With perfect details are the Nebraska state seal, the centennial seal, a seal of the State Capitol in Lincoln and Mrs. Wenke's home demonstration club seal.

Talent, Patience

Pictures of deer and other forest animals demonstrate the Bloomfield woman's talent and patience.

The quilt, lined on either side with the names of Nebraska's 93 counties, even pictures a map of Mrs. Wenke's Knox County, her Bloomfield First Trinity Lutheran Church, the Union Pacific Railroad Golden Spike, Pony Express riders, the Stuhr Museum in Grand Island, Chimney Rock, the Minatare lighthouse, a map of overland trail routes, numerous Indian chiefs, Conestoga wagons and teams and a stagecoach.

Although she had decided on a centennial theme, Mrs. Wenke did not plan her production beforehand.

"It just kind of grew as I started stitching," she declared.

Tiemann Is To Address Urban Meet

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann will be a featured speaker at the League of Nebraska Municipalities' 59th annual conference being held Sept. 26-27 in South Sioux City.

Kenneth L. Bowen, the league's executive secretary, estimates 250 to 300 municipal officials and guests will be in attendance.

Tiemann will address the evening banquet climaxing the first day of the two-day meeting.

Bowen said the conference program this year will highlight a number of vital programs and issues for the state's cities and towns.

One is the proposed 1969 state uniform budgeting and accounting law for municipalities and other governmental subdivisions. It will be discussed by Forrest Johnson of the Nebraska Tax Research Council.

Other conference speakers will include Harvey Perlman, executive director of the Governor's Crime Control Commission; Warren Fairchild of the State Soil and Water Commission, on the "State Water Plan," and Robert Dula, University of Nebraska recreation consultant, on "Parks and Recreation for Municipalities."

The state road study report will be discussed by a panel of three legislative leaders, Sens. Jerome Warner, Elvin Adamson and Jules Burbach.

Bowen said the conference's second day will feature sectional meetings and reports, business meeting and election of officers.

Free Lunch Requests Won't Be Turned Down

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Principals in the Lincoln public schools will not refuse a request for a child to receive a free lunch until an investigation of his need is made, according to the free lunch policy developed for the 1968-69 school year.

The policy establishing procedures for providing indigent children free lunches developed by Supt. John Prasch states that "in no case does a principal refuse a request.

"Lunch will be provided on a day-to-day basis until a determination is made."

After Meeting

Prasch determined the procedures for providing free lunches after a meeting with officials from the Lancaster County Welfare Department, the League of Women Voters, the Lincoln Action Program and other interested citizens.

The school district has been criticized recently for apparent lack of a free lunch policy or for lack of consistent enforcement of a policy.

Prasch had told the Board of Education in July that the district needed to "give the principals more guidance on how to identify needy children."

The policy states the schools are "actively desirous of providing school lunches for all those students who by reason of indigency or other circumstance of the family are unable to buy lunches."

The statement urges all staff "to assist in the identification of needy youngsters" and instructs principals to "encourage patrons or community agency personnel to file requests on behalf of pupils who may be eligible."

According to the policy, requests for consideration for free lunches "from any source" may be filed with the building principal or director of pupil services.

If a principal knows a case qualifies, he may make the necessary arrangements for the free lunch in his building. Otherwise he will forward the request to the office of pupil services which will conduct an investigation of need and make a determination on providing free lunches.

Tickets Or Money

"In arranging for free lunches, students will be given tickets or money so that no special identification will be required by school lunch personnel," the policy states.

Prasch also noted that an appointed advisory panel will be invited to review the file and procedures at regular intervals.

Prasch said criteria for providing free lunches would "include but not be limited to" families with income below the poverty level outlined for federal programs, families in which illness, unemployment or accident has temporarily cut off means of support and welfare and relief recipients approved by the County Welfare Department.

He said that "the principle of having secondary students work for lunches is sound and should be expanded to meet the needs of indigency."

U.S. Land Bank Group Convenes

Nearly 90 members of the Federal Land Bank Association attended a regional meeting of FLBA directors, managers and fieldmen at the Nebraska Center Friday.

The FLBA members heard reports on the bank's operations and held several discussions. Richard Gogan, appraisal supervisor for the Federal Land Bank, reported on farm and ranch appraisal value trends.

Lani Jo Gill

Iowa Blonde Best Twirler At The Fair

Lani Jo Gill, striking 17-year-old blonde from Hudson Iowa, swept the senior division of the baton twirling contest at the Nebraska State Fair Friday.

Miss Gill, a former national and world baton twirling champion, has been twirling a baton since she was 2 years old.

She will be the featured twirler next year at Iowa State University in Iowa City.

Two Minnesota girls took top honors in the juvenile and junior divisions.

Linda Johnson, 10, of Minneapolis, won the juvenile division, and Terri Zaccardi, 14, of St. Paul, swept the junior division.

About 150 girls, representing 11 states and two countries, took part in the contest at the State Fair.

Hospital Treats Lincoln Girl, 19, Hurt In Mishap

A 19-year-old Lincoln girl was treated and released at Bryan Memorial Hospital Thursday for injuries suffered in a two-car accident at 48th and Cotner.

Connie H. Lowe, 2321 So. 37th, suffered multiple cuts and bruises of the forehead and ankle when the car she was riding in was in collision with a car driven by Christopher L. Carper, 18, according to police reports.

Miss Lowe was a passenger in a car driven by Stephen C. Schlife. Each car received approximately $500 damage.

Muskie Would Feel Free To Disagree

Chicago (UPI) — Edmund S. Muskie said Friday that under his concept of the vice presidency he would feel free to withhold his support from Hubert H. Humphrey's policies if he disagreed with him.

Muskie and his wife, Jane, put off returning to their five children at their seacoast home in Maine and decided to accompany the Humphreys to the Democratic presidential nominee's Minnesota home town of Waverly for what an aide called "some friendly chit-chatting."

The tall, blue-eyed Muskie, who has been dovish on the Vietnam issue, spelled out his concept of the No. 2 spot in a television interview (Today Show — NBC).

'I'd Be Free'

He said he felt certain he would have an opportunity to speak his mind as vice president and to differ with Humphrey's policies.

"I'd be free to voice my opinions, my convictions in the process of shaping policy," he said, and even after that policy had been determined he would still have to make the "decision whether to support it or not."

Humphrey in his long campaign for the nomination described himself as President Johnson's "loyal lieutenant" and said he might depart from Johnson's policies but not until he became "captain of the team."

Viet Differences

Muskie's differences with Humphrey over Vietnam concerned whether to risk a halt in America's bombing of North Vietnam to get serious and substantive peace negotiations under way in Paris. Humphrey has argued that a bombing halt without a concession from Hanoi would endanger the lives of American troops in South Vietnam.

Muskie, former two-term governor of Maine and twice elected to the Senate from that normally Republican state, said "it didn't bother me" that the name of Julian Bond, a Negro state representative from Georgia, was placed in nomination in opposition to him. Bond quickly withdrew during Thursday night's voting by the Democratic Convention on the vice presidential nomination.

He called Bond, who headed the insurgent Georgia slate of delegates to the convention, a "very attractive, bright young man."

Muskie's aide said the senator's long range plans were indefinite and he did not know when the Muskies would return to their home in Kennebunk Beach, Maine.

"They're just going for some friendly chit-chatting and to discuss some of the more important issues," the aide said of the Muskies' decision to accompany Humphrey and his wife to Minnesota.

1 Killed, 69 Injured In Riot At U.S. Jail

Long Binh, South Vietnam (UPI) — Rioting apparently triggered by racial tension Friday killed one prisoner and injured 69 other men, including five guards, at the U.S. Army's Long Binh stockades, the biggest jail for American servicemen in Vietnam.

Fires set by some of the 750 inmates destroyed three wooden buildings, several storage huts and a number of tents. Prisoners raced through the compound with flaming torches.

Military police fired tear gas bombs and used billy club to restore order. The prisoner who died suffered a fractured skull.

Stockade wardens said the fire destroyed all prisoner records, making it impossible to tell if any of the inmates had escaped. The stockade just north of Saigon is surrounded by double fences topped with barbed wire.

Known as the "LBJ" — Long Binh Jail — for short, the stockade houses soldiers convicted offenses ranging from murder to possession of marijuana. Many have been convicted of being absent without official leave.

The Long Binh trouble followed by less than two weeks a riot at the U.S. Marine brig at Da Nang where hundreds of prisoners went on a rampage of destruction to back up complaints of harsh discipline.

There have been reports of racial dissension at Long Binh, and authorities said the cause of the predawn riot Friday was under investigation.

"It was a typical prisoner disturbance that got out of hand," a U.S. spokesman said.

Widow Will Get Husband's Medal

Omaha — An Omaha serviceman, killed in Vietnam in March, will receive the Silver Star Medal for heroism, posthumously, Saturday, at the offices of the Creighton University Military Department.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.

Bouton Hopes To Ride Knuckler Back To Majors

© New York Times Service

By ROBERT LIPSYTE

New York — "When I was 12 I had a real good knuckleball," said Jim Bouton. "I was a small kid and I couldn't throw hard enough. I got my knuckleball off the back of a Wheaties box that had Dutch Leonard's picture on it. It was a real good knuckleball, it fluttered and broke and no one could catch it.

"I threw a no-hitter with it in the state high school tournament. Then I started getting bigger and throwing harder. I found it was easier to strike them out with the fast ball. When the fastball was going good I thought I'd be throwing bullets until I was 35, and medium bullets to 40. I thought I might go back to the knuckler sometime around 45."

Jim Bouton ran out of bullets early. He won 21 games for the Yankees in 1963 and 18 in 1964, but his arm went bad and he hung in the major leagues through tenacity and memory and the hope it would all come back. In June, after a splendid spring exhibition season but no opportunity to pitch regularly, the 29-year-old Bouton was sold to the Seattle Angels of the Pacific Coast League.

"When I left the Yankees," said Bouton this week by telephone, "I was confident I was going to tear this league up. But after 40 innings of terrible pitching — I was losing consistently in all kinds of weather — I realized I just didn't have it any more. The fastball was gone. There was no point in kidding myself. I could reach all the way back and it just wasn't there. I'd have to start all over again with a new pitch."

The Angels were going nowhere in league competition, and there was general agreement that Bouton could do no worse. He plunged ahead with characteristic bulldoggedness, working out with weighted balls to toughen his fingers and eating Knox gelatin to strengthen his fingernails, then he began experimenting with the length of his nails.

"Nobody really knows how to throw a knuckleball," sail Bouton. "I'm not in control of the knuckleball and I don't know what it's going to do. Sometimes it appears to break three or four times and sometimes it corkscrews in. I've pitched called strikes on balls the catcher couldn't touch. Sometimes I have trouble keeping from laughing."

Throwing the knuckler takes great concentration. The pitcher must try to correct his grip and his spin after each pitch, and to keep a sequence of slow, medium and fast pitches. The effect of knuckleballs is cumulative, and Bouton will throw knucklers 50 to 90 per cent of the time in a given game. Occasionally, he will try to sneak in an inside fastball, a difficult pitch to gauge for a batter who is choking up defensively against that still ball mysteriously crazed by breezes and humidity.

Since he began throwing the knuckler, Bouton has given 28 hits in 35 innings and registered an earned-run average of 2.07, he says. His overall minor league E.R.A. is about 4.50 this season.

For Bouton, the decision to become a knuckleball pitcher represents a coming to terms with his career and his possibilities. Next year, the Seattle franchise becomes the major league Pilots, and Bouton wants to stay with them. His only chance, he says, is to convince management of his potential as a relief pitcher with great guile and the soft tricky pitches baseball men call "junk."

Bouton, educated, alert, sometimes too questioning and progressive for the usually conservative baseball world, agrees that there are other ways he might earn a living, and that the instability of his career might affect his wife and two small children, recently joined by an adopted 4-year-old Korean-American boy.

"It's not money," said Bouton. "I won't make all that much in the next few years as a marginal ballplayer. It's corny, maybe. I've got friends and family who'd get a kick out of seeing me come back off the canvas. Well, maybe it's just me still enjoying the idea of being a big league ballplayer, the thrill of competition. I'm not so ready to be a wash-up ballplayer. I want to go out on top."

TWO PITCHERS . . . Detroit's Earl Wilson rounds bases after 3-run homer. Orioles' Tom Phoebus is less happy.

TIGERS CLAW ORIOLES

. . . AL Leaders Turn Back Challengers, 9-1

Ay Associated Press

Big Earl Wilson drove in four runs and pitched a four-hitter Friday night as the first-plate Detroit Tigers turned back challenging Baltimore, 9-1, to move seven games ahead of the Orioles in the American League race.

The triump was Detroit's third straight and fourth in five games. Baltimore, only four games out on Tuesday, now has lost three straight.

Wilson, a 6-foot-4 right-hander, slammed a three-run homer in the third inning and capped a five-run Detroit fifth inning rally with a run-scoring single.

The crowd of 53,575-largest to see a game in Tiger Stadium since 1961-gave Wilson a standing ovation after his fifth homer of the season with Bill Freehan and Tom Matchick aboard in the second inning.

Freehan reached base when hit by a pitched ball for the 23rd time this year, tying the American League record set in 1956 by Minnie Minoso of Chicago. Matchick singled to set the stage for Wilson's 31st career homer.

Wilson, 12-11, retired the first 11 men he faced before Frank Robinson beat out an infield hit in the fourth. Don Buford spoiled Wilson's shutout bid with a solo homer, his 14th, in the sixth.

Detroit wrapped up the game in the third, pounding loser Tom Phoebus, 13-13, and Gene Brabender for five hits and five runs as 10 men went to the plate.

A double by Jim Northrup and a walk to Willie Horton started the rally. Norm Cash doubled home one run and Freehan slammed reliefer Brabender's first pitch for another double, scoring Horton.

Matchick was walked intentionally, filling the bases, and Don Wert punched a two-run single into right field. Wilson's second hit of the game drove in the run. Northrup singled another run across in the eighth.

Tony Horton raced home on Max Alvis' infield roller in the 10th inning, giving the Cleveland Indians a 3-2 victory over New York and a split of their doubleheader with the Yankees.

Fritz Peterson blanked the Indians 1-0 on four hits in the first game.

Throwing errors by Dalton Jones and Russ Gibson opened the gates to a five-run ninth inning uprising that carried the Washington Senators past the Boston Red Sox 5-1.

In the NL Doug Clemens hammered a three-run homer and the Philadelphia Phillies halted a five-game losing streak with a 7-4 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Milt Pappas checked Pittsburgh on four hits before an injury forced him out of the game in the ninth inning as the Atlanta Braves blanked the Pirates 2-0.

Tom Seaver pitched seven perfect innings and then finished with a three-hitter as the New York Mets defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 8-2.

Ron Santo drove in all of Chicago's runs with a pair of homers as the Cubs defeated the Houston Astros 5-3 Friday behind the clutch pitching of Ferguson Jenkins.

Santo connected with two runners aboard in the fourth inning and with one man on in the sixth, the latter breaking a 3-3 tie. The home runs were his 21st and 22nd of the season.

Graebner Captures Tough Match, Miss Eisel Upset

. . . VIC SEIXAS WHIPS GORMAN

Forest Hills, N.Y. (AP) — Australian John Newcombe and Americans Marty Riessen and Clark Graebner led a solid advance of seeded men into the second round Friday and it remained for a plucky little Scot girl Joyce Williams, to provide the upset excitement of the U.S. Open tennis championships.

Mrs. Williams, 23, wife of an English soccer writer, brought her game to a peak for a 5-7, 6-2, 6-4 triumph over seventh-seeded Mary Ann Eisel of St. Louis, America's No. 2 woman amateur.

Joyce gave up a promising singing career as the "Scottish Nightingale" to play the world tennis circuit. She strummed a rhythimic tune on her racket in beating Miss Eisel.

Newcombe, 1967 winner here when the tournament was all amateur and at No. 4 the highest men's seed to see action, crushed Allen Quay of South Orange, N.J., 6-1, 6-3, 6-3. Both are pros.

Riessen, a new pro who formerly teamed with Graebner in doubles, found a rugged opponent in young Zeljko Franulovic of Yugoslavia, but finally prevailed on an overpowering service and deadly volleying 11-9, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4. Riessen is seeded 15th.

Graebner, singles ace of the current U.S. Davis Cup squad and a semifinalist at Wimbledon this year, had to produce some of his finest shotmaking in subduing Premjit Lall of India 6-3, 1-6, 7-5, 6-4.

Lall, a brilliant stylist, reeled through the second set with loss of only one game and had a 4-3 lead and game point for 5-3 in the second. Then he flubbed an easy, shoulder-high volley into the net.

"If Lall had made that shot, he would almost undoubtedly have gone to intermission two sets to one and it might have had a different ending — I was lucky," Graebner said afterward. The bespectaled New York business executive is seeded seventh.

Other survivors in the men's division included the veteran Ramanathan Krishnan of India, bearded Torben Ulrich of Denmark, 45-year-old Vic Seixas of Villanova. Pa., and Chuck McKinley of New York, the latter two ex-Wimbledon champions who now sell stocks and bonds.

Miss Eisel, looking weary and losing her confidence in the final two sets, was the lone seeded woman player to fall.

Ann Haydon Jones of Britain, who expects to play Billie Jean King for the women's crown, turned back [illegible]-looking and sharp-stroking 17-year-old Los Angeles schoolgirl, Pamela Teegaurden, 6-3, 6-1.

Judy Tegart of Australia, Wimbledon runner-up and No. 3 seed behind Mrs. Jones, crushed Judy Dixon of Essex Fells, N.J., 6-0, 6-1. Britain's attractive Virginia Wade, No. 6, won over Stephanie De Fina of Hollywood, Fla., 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

Seixas, celebrating his 45th birthday and 27th appearance in the nationls here, beat Tom Gorman of Seattle, Wash., 8-6, 6-4, 6-3. McKinley won a marathon duel from tall Bill Tym of Peoria, Ill., 6-3, 8-6, 2-6, 3-6, 6-1.

Seixas and McKinley play in the next round.

Seixas, trim and fit, looked no different than he did a decade ago.

Tuthill Gives Resignation As PGA Tourney Director

Clifton, N.J. (AP) — Jack Tuthill, for eight years a key figure of the Professional Golfers' Association field staff, resigned as tournament director Friday.

Tuthill, for years in charge of field activities of the PGA's tour, handed in his resignation to Joe Black, who recently had been placed over him as the PGA tournament manager.

The move appeared to be another in the long series of maneuvers between the PGA, which also represents club pros, and the touring pros who have broken away to form their own organization, the American Professional Golfers.

Tuthill's prepared announcement said:

"I have today announced my resignation as PGA tournament director, following conclusion of the Hartford Open next week.

"I took the job under the conditions that I report to the tournament committee. Since the PGA saw fit to abolish the tournament committee, which, in effect changed my employment position, I feel I cannot work with the organization under these conditions."

The touring pros broke away after the PGA had abolished their players tournament committee, complaining they no longer had any voice in the conduct and control of the tour.

Black, a club pro at Dallas, said he could not remain on the tour permanently, and that a replacement for Tuthill, 44, would be signed as soon as possible.

There was immediate speculation that Tuthill might become head of the break-away Players group. But he said he has not been approached by the players and has not talked with them in that connection.

He is the second PGA field staff member to resign in two weeks. Bob Gorham, field press secretary, announced his resignation, effective in two weeks, to become public relations man for Churchill Downs in Louisville, Ky., and for the Kentucky Derby.

Gardner Dickinson, president of the board of directors of the break-away APG, said he had not talked with Tuthill but "We'd be delighted to have him as head of our organization.

"You check all the players. He's held in the highest esteem. He'd be an excellent man for the job."

Don Smashes Swim Standard

. . . 1:54.8 IN 200

Long Beach, Calif. (AP) — Don Schollander smashed his world record for the 200-meter freestyle Friday with a time of 1 minute, 54.8 seconds in preliminaries of the U.S. Men's Olympic Swimming Trials.

Schollander's mark was one of two world standards smashed in the opening program of a five-day meet at the Belmont Plaza pool.

The 22-year-old Yale senior, who won four gold medals in the 1964 Olympics at Tokyo, holds the official world mark of 1:55.7 for the 200-meter race which will be held for the first time on an Olympic program in Mexico City in October.

Versatile Charles Hickcox, an Indiana University swimmer from Phoenix, Ariz., bettered the pending world record for the 400-meter individual medley.

The 6-foot, 3½-inch 21-year-old was timed in 4:43.3 in winning a duel against 17-year-old Gary Hall of Long Beach. Hall, whose prior 4:43.4 had been the best in the world, was clocked in 4:43.5.

Officially the world record stands at 4:45.4 by Dick Roth of Atherthon, Calif., but Greg Buckingham of the Santa Clara Swim Club has 4:45.1 in June and Hall posted his mark in July.

In the 200 free style, Schollander's top competition in his heat came from Stephen Rerych of Patterson, N.J. and John Nelson of Pompano Beach, Fla., timed in 1:57.35 and 1:57.42 respectively.

Schollander, an Oregonian who swims with the Santa Clara club, was timed in 27.4 for the first 50 meters, 56.3 at 100 and 1:25.4 for 150. In the final 50, the blond speedster pulled away from his foes to win by two lengths.

Doug Russell of Arlington, Texas, posted the fastest 100-meter butterfly qualifying time. The 22-year-old who lists herding cattle as his favorite pasttime, swam 55.99 with world record holder Mark Spitz of Santa Clara second at 56.43. Spitz holds the world record of 55.7 for this event, which has been added to the Olympic program.

Times were so fast that Bruce Williams of Eustis, Fla., with 58.94 placed only ninth and failed to qualify for the finals except as an alternate.

Thirteen of the 37 in the qualifying races for the medley, which includes 100 meters each of the butterfly, backstroke, breast stroke and freestyle, broke 4:50 with only the fastest eight qualifying for Friday night's finals. In the 1964 Olympic games, only three swimmers broke 4:50.

Three from each of the final races qualify for the U.S. Olympic squad.

Hickcox led all the way in his 400 medley heat with Hall in the same race never far behind. The Indianian's times for the four segments were 1:00.0, 2:10.8, 3:39.0 and 4:43.4.

In this Olympic qualifying competition, the electronic timer carries the figure to hundredths. For world and American records, however, it must be recorded by hand timers to the nearest tenth.

Bob Murphy Takes Thunderbird Lead

. . . NICKLAUS SHOOTS 73

Clifton, N.J. (AP) — Brash Bob Murphy, the red-hot, red-haired rookie, stormed out of a massive log jam Friday and seized the first round lead in the $150,000 Thunderbird Golf Classic with a four-under-par 68

"It was kind of a steady round," said the stocky Floridian who won last week's Philadelphia Classic and led through the first three rounds of the Westchester Classic the week before.

"I could have played better, I could have played worse," said the former National Amateur and National Collegiate champion.

He birdied the seventh, eighth and ninth holes from five, 10 and 20 feet for an outgoing 33 and came home in 35 with a birdie on the par 11th.

He also had a bogey, when he was in a trap on No. 3, but got it back when he pitched to within four inches of the cup for an easy bird on the fourth.

He had a two-stroke lead over a group of 12 knotted at that figure.

Among the huge group who took two-under 70s on the 7,035-yard Upper Montclair Country Club course were Billy Casper, the season's leading money-winner, British Open champion Gary Player and Australian veteran Bruce Crampton.

The others were rookie Jerry Abbott, Steve Reid, Homero Blancas, Dudley Wysong, Bert Weaver, Chi Chi Rodriguez, Mason Rudolph, Lee Elder and Graham.

Pre-tourney favorite Jack Nicklaus was one over at 73 — I just played lousy" — despite an eagle three.

Omahans Eliminated In Series

Manchester, N.H. (AP) — East Springfield, Mass., and South Bend, Ind., remained alive as Omaha, Neb., and Tucson, Ariz., were eliminated Friday in second round play of the American Legion Baseball World Series.

East Springfield scored two runs with two out in the 14th inning to hand Omaha its second loss 3-1 in the double elimination tournament after South Bend ousted Tucson 4-3 by scoring two runs with two out in the eighth inning.

The Manley brothers, Earl and Charlie, played key roles in helping East Springfield. Earl walked, stole second and came in on Charlie's single in the 14th inning. Charlie took second on the throw to the plate and moved to third as the ball got past the catcher.

Charlie, who had three stolen bases, then scored on a theft of home.

Omaha scored on Marty Mancusco's sacrifice fly in the third inning. Springfield tied the count in the fifth as Bill Bedard scored on the front end of a double steal. Then the two teams battled on even terms until the 14th.

Barry Can Play In ABA

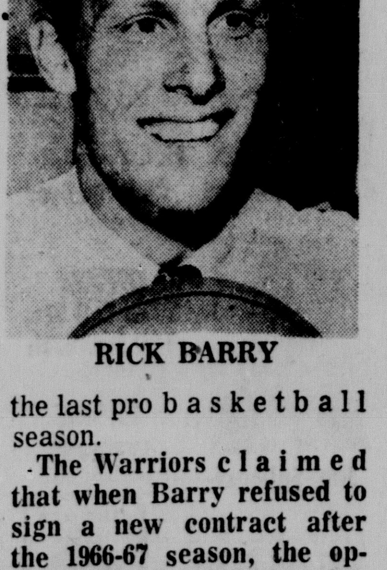
. . . SF OPTION CLAUSE EXPIRES SEPTEMBER 30

San Francisco (AP) — A judge ruled with reluctance Friday that the San Francisco Warriors cannot compel superstar Rick Barry to play any more for the National Basketball Association team.

The former University of Miami star, champion NBA scorer in 1966-67, is free after Sept. 30 to play for the Oakland Oaks of the American Basketball Association.

The judge left the door ajar for award of possible damages to the Warriors because Barry defied the NBA option clause in switching to the Oaks.

The option clause was the center of the dispute. While the issue was fought in the courts, Barry sat out all of the last pro basketball season.



RICK BARRY

The Warriors claimed that when Barry refused to sign a new contract after the 1966-67 season, the option entitled the NBA club to an actual year of Rick's play.

When Barry went ahead with plans to play last season with Oakland, the Warriors got an injunction which forced Barry to sit out the season.

"In this instance, plaintiff (the Warriors) has restrained defendant Barry from playing for the additional year it had the right to do under the option clause," the judge stated as the heart of his ruling.

"But certainly no more.

"Candor requires that this court admit that it reluctantly reached this decision; however, if the appelate court disagrees, it would be a simple matter to find for the plaintiff without further litigation."

Warrior owner Franklin Mieuki conceded after the ruling his club has lost its last hope of having Barry play for the Warriors. But Mieuli strongly indicated the club would take its cue from the judge's decision and seek damages through an appeal.

Judge Carpeneti noted in his ruling the Warriors had sought $814,850 damages.

"The court would further find, if such occasion arose," the judge added, that the Warriors suffered a net gate loss of $356,000 by Barry's refusal to play.

"I am very happy with the decision and I'm looking forward to going to work with the Oaks" said the 6-9 Barry, who averaged 36 points a game in his last playing season.

"Missing a year of basketball was unfortunate but won't affect my career. I have been working out and will be ready to go."

Huskers Work On Offense

. . . DEVANEY SAYS OFFENSE AHEAD OF LAST YEAR

By KENT SAVERY
Star Sports Writer

Coach Bob Devaney installed a couple of new plays in the Huskers' offensive arsenal Friday and pronounced the offense ahead of this time last year, but not yet as sharp as it was at the end of spring drills.

By the end of next week we'll have our complete offense and defense in,'' Devaney said. "And we hope then we'll be ahead of where we were in spring ball."

Devaney said he has been paying more attention to the offense this week, but feels the defense has been good.

The first big test is planned for 2 p.m. Sunday when the Huskers hold their first regular scrimmage.

Devaney said it was hard to tell this early how the defense will stack up. Missing this year are standouts such as all-America middle guard Wayne Meylan, along with big Jim McCord and Jerry Patton.

"We haven't really put the defense to a test," Devaney said. "We'll be able to judge them better after we line up and run at them," he said, looking forward to Sunday's scrimmage.

The offense and particularly the passing game received more attention Friday and sophomore Guy Ingles was used at both flanker and split end.

Devaney, who has been pleased with many of his receivers, labeled Ingles a good one and said he might also be used for punt returns.

Ingles, a diminutive 5-10, 160 pounder, has proved quick and elusive, but last year's regular punt returner, Al Larson, has also looked good.

"Al Larson's looked quicker this year as a punt returner," Devaney said, noting that the Sioux City product has apparently benefited from losing a little weight.

Joe Orduna and Mike Green have also been working on punt returns, Devaney said, but neither has been as dependable at catching the ball as Larson.

However, Devaney said both Orduna and Green have improved greatly in the receiving department since coming to Nebraska.

Right halfback Mick Ziegler sprained an ankle in Friday's morning workout and Devaney said he would likely miss Sunday's scrimmage. "Everyone else is in good health," the Husker coach said.

Fairground Officials Predict Record Times

. . . RACING TO START TODAY

Auto race supervisors here for three days of speed events at the Nebraska State Fair Friday took a look at the skies and forecast first class track conditions for the more than 50 cars and drivers entered.

Al Sweeney, National Speedways president, noted that the track is new, the half-mile oval having been graded within the old five-eighths track only last year.

"All of our present records," he said, "probably will undergo changes almost daily during Saturday's, Sunday's and Monday's races."

Sweeney disclosed that the cars will make qualification runs today to establish starting positions for the first two days of racing, then will requalify Monday afternoon for the Labor Day events.

"Track conditions can change so much," he said, "that this will give a break to those who for one reason or another may have established a disadvantageous time Saturday. A great deal depends on how a driver qualifies; it often can mean the difference in whether he makes the day's feature.

Hernandez To Fight Benvenuti

Toronto (AP)—The Nino Benvenuti-Art Hernandez non-title fight is on again and this time it appears on to stay.

Promoters said Friday that Benvenuti, the world middleweight boxing champ, will take on the Omaha, Neb., fighter in Maple Leaf Gardens Sept. 17, a Tuesday.

The bout has been scheduled for June 22, then postponed to July 15, then to July 29 when Benvenuti reported he had suffered a hand injury. Further postponement put the fight back to Sept. 4, Sept. 9, then Sept. 16.

At one point, A. Mervin McKenzie, past president of the World Boxing Association, said he had placed the Italian fighter's name on the WBA's suspended list.

Promoter Paul Iannuzzi, announcing the Sept. 17 date, said the Benvenuti suspension had been lifted and that the champion's hand injury has healed. A performance band has been placed in trust and the contract signed for the Gardens.

Jeanette Sues NBA's Bullets

Baltimore (AP) — Harry "Buddy" Jeannette, deposted general manager of the Baltimore Bullets, sued the National Basketball Association club and owner Abe Pollin today for $612,125 in damages.

The suit, filed in Baltimore City Superior Court, sought:

—$12,125 from the Bullets for alleged breach of contract.

—$200,000 from both the Bullets and Pollin for alleged "false and malicious statements" made by Pollin which the suit contended were defamatory per se.

—$100,000 from each defendant for alleged intentional interference with Jeannette's contractural rights.

Jeannette, 51, served as coach of the Bullets during the 1964-65 season, and the following year became general manager. He served in that post until last Aug. 4.

On that date, the suit said, Pollin asked Jeannette to resign during a discussion in Pollin's Bethesda, Md., home and Jeannette refused.

Before Jeannette returned to Baltimore, the suit said, Pollin released a statement to the news media "to the effect that the plaintiff was fired."

The suit, contending the Bullets "arbitrarily and capriciously breached its employment contract" with Jeannette, asked for $13,125 damages representing alleged unpaid wages.

Jeannette was serving without a written contract, which the suit said the Bullets failed to provide despite his request, and he based the start of his employment year at May 1, 1967, when he received a $2,500 pay boost to $17,500.

The suit contended Pollin made statements to the news media "with the express intent of publishing to the world that the defendants stated that the plaintiff was unfit to manage 'first-class, top-notch, big league organization' and that he was not 'capable, aggressive, hardworking.' "

As a result of the statements, the suit said, Pollin "recklessly and intentionally interfered with the future contractural rights of the plaintiff in that said malicious and untrue defamatory statements will preclude other professional basketball teams from hiring or considering the plaintiff for a managerial position."

No Olympics For Rhodesia

Bulawayo, Rhodesia (AP) — Douglas Downing, president of the Rhodesian Olympic Committee, said Friday Rhodesia had dropped plans to send a team to the Mexico Olympic Games.

As a member of the International Olympic body, Rhodesia was eligible to send a team to the Games Oct. 12-27 but the Mexico City organizers did not send an invitation after this country was condemned by the United Nations for its racial policies.

Buffalo, N.Y. (AP) — Leroy Kelly and Charley Harraway ripped apart the Buffalo Bills' line in the fourth period Friday night and propelled the National Football League Cleveland Browns to a 22-12 victory in an exhibition game with the American League team.

With the Browns trailing 12-10 in the fourth period, Kelly and Harraway teamed to move the ball 80 yards in 14 plays to put Cleveland ahead as Harraway bulled the last yard for a touchdown.

The Bills went ahead in the third period on Ben Gregory's one-yard burst through center.

Cleveland's final score came on an eight-yard pass from Frank Ryan to Paul Warfield.

Kelly ground out 147 yards in 20 carries against 103 yards in 23 carries for Anderson.

Police Find Red Auto Used In Mein's Killing

Guatemala City (UPI) — Police said Friday they have found the red automobile apparently used in the machine gun assassination of U.S. Ambassador John Gordon Mein.

The Red Japanese car was seized after being abandoned in a side street.

Earlier police said "many" suspects had been arrested in the Wednesday killing which the government blamed on Communist terrorists loyal to Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

Sad Procession

In sad procession the remains of the American diplomat were taken to the city's Union Church for services before the body was flown to the United States. President Julio Cesar Mendez Montenegro and his cabinet led the cortege from the church to the airport.

A house-by-house search of the plush residential neighborhood where the slaying took place has so far failed to turn up any clue to the assassin, police said.

Col. Victor Gamboa, police chief, said investigation has established that 11 men were involved in the killing. He said they had stolen and used two taxis in the crime. The cab drivers, whose vehicles were taken at gunpoint, and other eyewitnesses to Mein's slaying have given police descriptions of the assassins, he said.

Credit Claimed

The Castro-Communist Armed Revolutionary Forces (FAR), underground terrorist organization, meanwhile claimed credit for the slaying of Mein. In a statement distributed to news media, FAR officials said they had intended to kidnap Mein to use him as a hostage for police release of one of their leaders, but that they killed him when he sought to escape.

The FAR leader held by police, a "Major" Camilo Sanchez, was captured last Saturday. Newspapers identified him as second leader of the Communist terrorist group. FAR sources said police had not made public his arrest and they warned of new violence to come if he was not presented to authorities by police.

Army control over interior highways and Guatemala's frontiers with other Central American countries was established under a 30-day "state of siege" (modified martial law) decreed after Mein's slaying.

Jarring Concludes Egypt Discussions

Cairo (UPI) — U.N. peace envoy Gunnar Jarring Friday concluded talks with Egyptian officials amid reports from diplomatic sources that the foreign ministers of the 14-nation Arab League would meet here Sunday to test feeling on an Arab "declaration of peace" to Israel.

Jarring flew from Cairo to Amman, Jordan, and then returned Friday evening to his Nicosia, Cyprus, base.

The Egyptian newspaper Al Ahram said Jarring "failed to bring anything new" to Cairo from his one-day visit. Jarring conferred with Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad, and informed sources said most of the discussion centered on Arab fears of new Israeli attacks on Jordan-based Arab guerrillas.

Al Ahram said Jarring told Riad he had gained assurances from Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban that Israel was not planning new raids.

The diplomatic sources said the meeting Sunday would be to "test the temperature" for an Arab "declaration of peace."

The sources said such a declaration would end the state of Arab belligerency against Israel, thus hoping to avoid Israeli insistence on signing an actual peace treaty, which the sources said would be "unrealistic" while Israel is occupying Arab territory.

The ending of the Arab state of belligerency was one of the conditions for Arab-Israel peace laid down in the U.N. Security Council Mideast resolution of Nov. 22 last year.

Combination Tax Is Administered Well—Candidate

Richard H. Larson, candidate for the Legislature from Lincoln's 27th District, said Friday, "The present sales-income tax has gained the confidence of the people because of the quiet competence in which it has been administered."

"The people of Nebraska and Lincoln are rightly concerned about the fate of the present tax structure, which was so widely discussed by the Legislature and in the news media from one end of Nebraska to the other and understood by the people," Larson said.

"When the public and their legislators work so laboriously on such an important issue, they know how to vote," he added.

Larson, a former four-term state railway commissioner, also pointed out that "the next Legislature will have the responsibility of strengthening and clarifying the law where needed."

Alliance Youth Is On Probation In Letter Charge

A 19-year-old Alliance youth was placed on three years probation by U.S. District Judge Robert Van Pelt Friday in connection with a charge of mailing an obscene letter.

The youth had pleaded guilty to the charge and had admitted mailing the letter to an Alliance girl on Jan. 9 this year.

Maximum sentence for conviction on the charge is five years in prison.

'Daley's Goons Stomped On Kids,' Martin Claims

Omaha (AP) — Dave Martin of Omaha, co-chairman of the McCarthy campaign in Nebraska, reported Friday he got a "rifle butt in the stomach and tear gas from Chicago Mayor Daley's greeting committee."

Martin, son of GOP Congressman David Martin of Kearney, said "the kids were stomped on by Daley's goons. The cops were yelling obscenities. I saw no one on the other side who provoked any violence." Martin, a radio newsman in Omaha 15 years ago, said he developed "great respect for Omaha police," but in Chicago "I have never experienced such a sense of burning outrage."

But Martin, now an Omaha advertising man, disclaimed any fourth party campaign as a result of Sen. Eugene McCarthy's failure to win the Democratic nomination. He said he will continue to work as a Democrat to bring about changes of policy.

He said he got into the movement because of the war and "I will do all I can to help any Democrat pledged to the peace plank we tried to get through at the convention."

'Return' Grapes

Washington (UPI) — The office and professional employes, union local 2, urged residents of the Washington area to return to California any grapes they have that "are produced by strikebreakers."

Helicopter Crashes

Hong Kong (UPI) — A helicopter rented by a Hong Kong television station crashed, killing one person and injuring four others. The craft was carrying broadcasting equipment when it went down.

Exon Will Speak About Convention

Jim Exon, Nebraska Democratic national committeeman, will speak about "What Goes on at a National Political Convention" at the Kiwanis Club's regular noon meeting Friday in the Lincoln Hotel.

The following have been nominated to serve on the club's board of directors: Wayne E. Beams, Robert Den Hartog, Forest H. Eno, James E. Geist, Harold C. Hill, Lloyd J. Moore, Charles J. Probasco and Ivan O. Sunderman.

Lincoln Area Employment Totals 77,250

A total employment figure of 77,250 for July was reported in the monthly labor report for the Lincoln area.

The report, issued by the Nebraska Department of Labor, Division of Employment, showed a decrease of 850 workers from the previous month.

The largest loss came in the governmental category, in the subsegment of educational services. The greatest increase was 300 in services.

Since July 1967 employment has shown an increase of 1,750 workers. Agricultural employment was reduced by 150 for the yearly period.

A reduction of 400 workers was noted in the unemployment ranks for the past month, but an over-all increase of 100 unemployed was shown since July 1967.

The unemployment rate to the total civilian work force went down 0.4% from June figures. Of those seeking employment, 52% were females.

Young workers returning to school have left a void in the employment picture for many offices and industries, the report said.

LBJ Should Contact Ho Chi Minh Directly

... Says Candidate Maxine Morrison

Omaha (AP) — Direct personal negotiations between President Johnson and Ho Chi Minh without the use of intermediaries were called for Friday by Mrs. Maxine Morrison, Democratic nominee for Congress in the Second Congressional District.

"The time has come to stop the war and for all parties to commence a gradual withdrawal of troops from Vietnam so the South Vietnamese people, through free election, can establish a government of their choice," she said.

"Most people will now agree that it was a mistake to involve ourselves militarily in Vietnam to the extent that we did become involved," she said.

"I feel the type of war being conducted has not been justified," she continued. "But I am not interested in blaming anyone. I am dedicated to the thousands of American boys giving their lives and dedicated to helping prevent another Vietnam."

Mrs. Morrison proposed, in addition to a direct confrontation between President Johnson and Ho Chi Minh:

—That President Johnson request an immediate cease fire during negotiations.

—That Americans and North Vietnamese withdraw their troops from South Vietnam simultaneously.

—That an election be held in South Vietnam under United Nations auspices and with the protection of a U.S. peacekeeping force.

—That the United States should not insist on a coalition government.

Mrs. Morrison said the only way to achieve military victory would be total destruction of North Vietnam by nuclear weapons and this would certainly result in direct nuclear confrontation with the Soviet Union.

Asked what she would do if Ho Chi Minh refused a cease fire Mrs. Morrison replied: "I offer this only as a theory. It might work. Let's try it. We will never know the result if we don't make the effort."

Ex-Buffalo County School Head Dies

Omaha (AP) — Funeral services will be held in Omaha Saturday morning for Katherine Laughlin, 84, former Buffalo County superintendent of schools and teacher in the Omaha public schools.

Miss Laughlin died Thursday at St. Vincent's Home in Omaha.

Sandoz Research Material Sought By WSC Women

Wayne — Two members of the Wayne State English faculty, Mrs. Minnie Rice and Mrs. Ruby Pedersen, will leave Saturday on a literary treasure hunt in New York. Both are working on research projects concerning the late Mari Sandoz, one of Nebraska's illustrious authors.

They will consult with a publisher's representative who worked extensively with Miss Sandoz and has many of her original manuscripts. Mrs. Rice plans to compare originals with published versions of the Sandoz books as part of her research.

On their way home they will visit the University of Wisconsin, where Miss Sandoz taught for 11 summers. Mrs. Pedersen is studying educational phases of the author's career.

The tiny holes in saltine crackers are necessary to assure uniform baking of the entire cracker and to prevent "blistering" during the baking process. Without the holes, the center of the cracker would be unbaked while the edges and "blisters" were burned. The holes are made by little pins after the dough sheet is formed.

Two Appointed To Education Facilities Unit

Two appointments to the Nebraska Commission for the Higher Educations Facilities Act were announced Friday by Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann.

Tiemann said the new members are Dr. Michael Paradise, president of Norfolk Junior College, and Joseph Hallas, vice president of the U.S. National Bank of Omaha.

He said Dr. Paradise will take the position left open by the resignation of Dr. F. Don Maclay of Norfolk Junior College. Paradise will represent the junior colleges on the commission.

Hallas fills the position held previously by Dr. Kirk E. Naylor, president of the former Omaha University, which has become the University of Nebraska at Omaha. Naylor had represented municipal colleges on the commission.

Tieman said the change in status of the university removed the need of such a representative.

Stock Mart Posts Fairly Good Gain

New York (AP) — The stock market Friday posted a fairly good gain, despite the upcoming three-day Labor Day weekend, but trading was the lightest in about five months.

Volume sank to 8.19 million shares from 10.95 million Thursday and was the smallest since March 28, when 8.0 million shares changed hands.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 1.68 to 896.01.

Of 1,507 issues traded 701 rose and 560 fell. New highs for the year totaled 34 and new lows 17.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .9 to 333.1 with industrials up 1.0, rails up .6 and utilities up .5

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index climbed 12 to 98.86. The New York Stock Exchange index gained 9 cents at $55.44.

Thirteen of the 15 most-active stocks advanced. Brunswick was unchanged at 17¼, and J. Ray McDermott lost 2¼ at 89.

McDermott was traded on a late block of 149,000 shares at 88½, enough to boost it to the spot of most-active stock on total volume of 151,000 shares.

Among other active stocks, Control Data rose 1⅞ to 131 as it continued a technical recovery from the 125 level, which had been predicted by some analysts.

Also active, American Telephone rose ½ to 51⅜. The company has proposed new interstate tariffs to permit some use of customer-owned equipment.

Glen Alden rose ⅛ and Schenley ¼ as Glen Alden's tender to Schenley shareholders ran out at the end of the day.

City Investing advanced 2⅝ to 47⅛. City Investing said it had received about 95% of the outstanding common shares of Home Insurance Co. as a result of its exchange offer to Home shareholders, an offer which expired Thursday.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 4.03 million shares, compared with 4.96 million Thursday.

Hog Prices Are Steady To Higher

Wheat Futures Prices Decline

Chicago (AP) — Wheat futures marked another week of declining prices — the sixth straight — on the Chicago Board of Trade the past week.

Other grain futures also were mostly lower, while soybeans closed on an irregular tone.

Wheat futures had seesawed the first four trading session until Friday, when the selloff was greatest and all six contracts set lows for the season.

When trade closed on Friday, wheat was 1⅜ to 2½ cents a bushel lower, September 1.16½; corn was unchanged to ¼ lower, September 1.04⅞; oats were ⅛ to ¾ lower, September 57⅝ cents; rye was ¼ lower to 1⅜ higher, September 1.10⅞; and soybeans were unchanged to ¾ higher, September 2.62.

Statue Reported Gone From Yard

A lawn statue valued at $110 was stolen from the property of Pace Woods, 1215 Cold Springs Road, sometime late Thursday or early Friday.

The antique gray stone cupid, one of 10 copies in the United States of a statue in the collection of William Randolph Hearst, was torn off its pedestal, Wood said.

NU's Joanell Ackerman Wins Journalism Award

Joanell Ackerman, a senior in journalism at the University of Nebraska, has been named the recipient of a $500 award as one of the ten top journalism interns in the nation.

Miss Ackerman of Dundee, Minn., interned at the Sioux City (Iowa) Journal this summer and was the third student from the University of Nebraska interning at the paper to win the award.

Mona Morris won the award in 1965 and is now working for the Miami Herald. Lois Quinnett Akin, who won the award in 1966, was a reporter on the Wall Street Journal and is now editor of publications for Bankers Life Nebraska in Lincoln.

Many Nominated

More than 100 U.S. newspapers nominate interns for the awards. The Newspaper Fund, Inc., makes the award to encourage outstanding students to continue in journalism.

Miss Ackerman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ackerman of Dundee, Minn., formerly of Hooper.

She is one of three interns from the University of Nebraska working at the Sioux City paper. She was a feature writer for the Sioux City Sunday Journal.

'Interesting Stories'

"Miss Ackerman consistently provided interesting and varied stories for the front page of the paper," Managing Editor Ken Sanders said.

He added that she was adept at photography and took pictures to illustrate her stories.

Miss Ackerman has a 3.4 average on a 4-point scale at the University, where she will resume her studies Sept. 9.

Animals Using Bowling Balls As Playthings

Visitors shouldn't be alarmed at hearing bowling balls rumbling around Lincoln's Antelope Park Zoo these days.

The zoo received about 20 contributed bowling balls recently and the animals are using them as playthings.

"It sounds like a bowling alley when you come to work in the morning," caretaker Darold Fletcher said.

Dudley, the African lion, puts his paws on a ball and rests his head on top. He was sharing the ball with Judy, the mountain lion, but she now has her own.

Fritz, the baboon, rolls his around in the cage but makes great leaps when it rolls back toward him.

School Bus, Local Truck In Collision

Ottumwa, Iowa (UPI) — A truck owned by a Lincoln, Neb., firm collided with a loaded school bus near here Friday, injuring some 15 children.

Authorities said the injured were hospitalized at Ottumwa following the collision on rain-slick U.S. 34, some 10 miles west of here.

A hospital spokesman said it appeared that only two of the children were injured seriously enough to require admission. Another child was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in Ottumwa.

All the children were kindergartners at the Blakesburg community school in western Wapello County.

The bus driver, Ralph Boone of Blakesburg, and the kindergarten teacher, Vera Miller of rural Unionville, were not injured. The trucker, John Korn of Lincoln, also escaped injury.

Boone said he was slowing to discharge several of the 20 children on the bus. Officers said the oncoming truck attempted to stop and jackknifed, hitting the bus headon.

Mrs. Miller said she was unhurt, but "I sure got bounced around a lot."

It was the second accident involving a school bus in this area in less than one week.

71 At Council

President R. W. Fowler and 70 Union College faculty and administration officials attended the Quadrennial Council for Higher Education at Andrews University in Berrien Springs, Mich., Aug. 20-27.

Peace Corps Volunteer Questions 'Good' Image

By JOAN McCULLOUGH
Star Staff Writer

Foreign nationals would be dubious about a person who smiled and agreed with all United States governmental policies, a Peace Corps volunteer wrote in response to the criticism of a United States congressman.

Marilyn Petersen, 24 served as a public health counselor in Thailand for two years. Miss Petersen, a 1965 graduate of the University of Nebraska, wrote the letter to Rep. Otto. Passman, D-La., after she read some of the comments he made at an appropriations subcommittee meeting in June.

Passman advocates that volunteers be required to support all United States foreign policy while serving abroad.

Volunteers try to convey to the natives the ideals in American life that make the country great, Miss Petersen said. She lists the freedom of speech and the liberty to dissent as two outstanding rights.

"But, you may argue, it is good to be able to speak freely within the country but it is dangerous outside the country because the foreign nationals could easily misunderstand. I believe you underestimate the intelligence and sensitivity of non-Americans," she said.

In an argument with Jack Vaughn, director of the Peace Corps, Passman alluded to comments he heard while bringing some volunteers back from Bangkok. "I was shocked to hear them expressing themselves vocally in opposition to our Vietnam policy," he is quoted as saying.

Miss Petersen countered that the volunteers were making their comments to a U.S. congressman, not to the native Thais.

"There may have been at least 50 young Americans killed in Vietnam, while these volunteers are expressing themselves vocally to me in opposition to our policy in Vietnam . . ." the quote from Passman said.

The American image had clearly changed from good to bad during the period Miss Peterson served there, she said. She was the only foreigner in a Thai village from June 1966, until March 1968.

"Who is creating the 'good' image, the American serviceman who throws his money around and makes Thais consider all Americans wealthy or the volunteer who lives on the same amount of money as his Thai counterpart?" Miss Petersen asks.

The Peace Corps had been in Thailand three or four years before the buildup of 45,000 American GIs there, but in the two short years of that buildup the American image has plummeted, she said.

"Did the representative see the bars and brothels that have sprung up . . . as a response to our bases there? Did the representative read an editorial in the Bangkok newspaper saying how American GIs are overpowering the country but that Peace Corps volunteers are helping the rural Thai people?" she asked.

Which group of Americans is making a "good image" overseas is a question of the attitude towards the host country nationals, Miss Petersen said.

She cited the incident of a drunken soldier who walked up to a Peace Corps volunteer in a Thai restaurant and said "what you guys work hard for for two years, I can change in one night."

Miss Petersen, niece of former Mayor Dean Petersen, will be attending graduate school at Washington University in St. Louis this fall.

JULIAN B. MORGAN

Past Lancaster Clerk, Jud Morgan, 91, Dies

Former Lancaster County Clerk Julian B. (Jud) Morgan, 91, of 4735 So. 54th, died Friday. Services will be held at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday at the First Methodist Church.

Mr. Morgan worked in Lancaster County government for 38 years, first as deputy clerk and then as county clerk. He was elected to the post in consecutive terms from 1922 until 1958.

A Nebraska resident for 80 years, Mr. Morgan was born in Watson, Mo. He graduated from Nebraska Wesleyan University in 1905 with a B.A. degree. He also attended the University of Nebraska.

He was principal of St. Paul High School for two years. After three years in the shoe business in Lincoln, he went to Loup City, where he worked in the State Bank.

Mr. Morgan organized and was cashier of the Farmers State Bank at Inland, where he also served as township clerk and treasurer of a Clay County school district.

After selling his interest in the bank, he moved to Lincoln in 1920 and began working for Lancaster County.

Mr. Morgan was a member of the First Methodist Church, Masonic Lodge 227, AF&AM, Scottish Rite, Shrine, Optimist Club and the Chamber of Commerce.

Survivors include his daughter, Mrs. Russell M. (Helen) Peterson of Hardin, Mont.; a sister, Mrs. Carrie H. Helstone of Severna Park, Md.; four grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

GUN ACCIDENT FATAL TO BOY

Omaha (UPI) — A 15-year-old Omaha boy was killed Friday night when a 12-gauge shotgun accidentally discharged.

The Douglas County sheriff's office identified the victim as Mike Donnelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley R. Donnelly, Omaha.

Sheriff's officers said young Donnelly was in a home with two other boys when the accident occurred. They were identified by authorities as Frank Recek Jr., 12, and Jerry Jablonski, 15.

The boys were in the living room when the 12-gauge gun was taken down from a rack and young Recek handed the gun to young Donnelly. It discharged, striking Donnelly in the armpit.

He was pronounced dead on arrival at Immanuel Hospital.

43rd Army Band Sets Celebration

Past and present members of Lincoln's 43rd Army Band will gather here Saturday to celebrate the 20th anniversary of the unit's organization.

Some 138 men have served with the band in its history.

A highlight of the celebration will be the band in concert.

Singer To Wed Movie Publicist

Hollywood (AP) — Singer Theresa Thomas, daughter of comedian Danny Thomas, is engaged to marry Larry R. Gordon, Hollywood publicist. The wedding will be on Sept. 28.

Miss Thomas, 25, made her singing debut recently at a casino in Lake Tahoe. Her older sister, Marlo, stars in a television series.
